SIR: I have the honor to submit the following report, with the accompanying documents, showing the operations of this branch of the public service during the period that has elapsed since the last annual communication from this office.

The sales of the public lands during the year 1845 amounted to 1,843,527.05 acres, producing $2,470,303 17; and in the first, second, and third quarters of the present year 1,728,408.71 acres were sold, amounting to $2,222,920 77, as indicated by exhibits A, B, and C. A comparison of these exhibits with those of several of the preceding years shows that the sales have been regularly increasing; not stimulated, it is believed, in any degree by speculation, but keeping pace only with the increase of population, and made mainly for the purposes of actual settlement and cultivation, most of the entries being in small subdivisions, and many under the pre-emption privilege.

During the present year the aggregate quantity of public lands in all the States and Territories which has been proclaimed for sale, amounts to 12,535,878 acres.

The details are presented in document D, herewith, which shows the quantity advertised for sale or brought into market in each State and Territory, the amount surveyed and not proclaimed for sale, with the reasons why it has not been proclaimed.

In Ohio all the public lands have been brought into market, except a few small islands in the Miami river.

In Indiana the lands embraced in the cessions by the Miami Indians of 1834, 1838, and 1840, have not yet been laid open to purchase. The last of those cessions is now being surveyed. When the official returns of the surveys of those lands shall have been made, and the canal grants adjusted, the whole will be offered at public sale; Congress, by the act of 8th August, 1846, having attached them to land districts, thereby removing an insuperable difficulty which had previously existed to bringing any of them into market.

In Michigan all lands which have been attached to land districts, except a few townships not considered very valuable in the southern peninsula, have been duly offered.

In the northern peninsula and lake Superior copper region, 1,719,678 acres are ready for sale; and as these lands are now attracting much attention, from the valuable fisheries in the adjacent lakes, and the rich mineral deposits in many of them, it is recommended that Congress adopt the necessary measures during the ensuing session with a view to the disposal of them to enterprising citizens seeking a home in that region.

In Illinois the public lands have all been surveyed and opened to sale, except about 28,000 acres, and some unfinished surveys on the principal rivers.

In Missouri upwards of 3,000,000 acres have been proclaimed this year, and nearly 400,000 acres are prepared for sale, but not yet offered, part being interfered with by the Clamorgan claim, part situated in Current river copper region, and the balance suspended until the northern boundary of the State shall have been finally settled.

In Wisconsin upwards of 1,250,000 acres have been proclaimed, embracing all the lands which are ready for sale.

In Iowa upwards of 1,000,000 acres have been proclaimed, and about 250,000 acres are ready for market, but withheld until the grant for the improvement of the Des Moines river and the southern boundary of the Territory shall have been adjusted.

In Arkansas about 3,250,000 acres have been proclaimed, and nearly 1,000,000 acres are ready for sale, but suspended in consequence of the interference of the De Bastrop and Clamorgan claims.

In Louisiana upwards of 500,000 acres have been prepared for market, but suspended principally because of the interference of the De Bastrop and Dauterive claims.

In Mississippi upwards of 1,500,000 acres have been advertised, comprising nearly all the land ready for sale in that State.

In Alabama about 68,000 acres, heretofore suspended on account of private claims, are now ready for market.

In Florida upwards of 1,250,000 acres have been proclaimed during the past year, and nearly 200,000 acres prepared for future proclamations.

Of the lands thus proclaimed for sale, there are 279,048 acres in Illinois, 285,126 acres in Iowa, 153,392 acres in Wisconsin, and 112,769 acres in Arkansas; all of which were heretofore withheld or reserved from sale on account of their supposed mineral qualities, or as containing timber fit for smelting purposes.

They are now ordered into market under the provisions of the act of 11th July last, which authorized the President to sell the reserved mineral lands in those States, supposed to contain lead ore. None of these proclaimed lands, however, embrace tracts on which there are outstanding, unexpired, and undetermined leases from the government or its authorized agents.

From exhibit D, it will also be perceived that nearly all the lands in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Mississippi, and Alabama have been surveyed; and as the resurveys required in several of those States, to replace the original field notes which were lost or destroyed, are rapidly progressing, it will soon become necessary to transfer to the State authorities the plats and documents pertaining to the surveys within their respective limits, as required by the act of 12th June, 1840. So far, however, as Ohio is interested, this transfer has been made; and judging from the operation of this system in that case, it seems to be absolutely necessary that other and further legislative provision be made, by which the officer in whose charge those plats and documents may be placed should be authorized and required to perform all the duties of the United States surveyors general, until the public land system shall have ceased to operate within the State; and, in that event, it is suggested that he should be allowed some compensation proportionate to the services which may be required of him. When the transfer was made to the authorities of the State of Ohio of all the plats and documents relating to the surveys within her limits, it was understood, and, indeed, such is the fact, with a few exceptions, that all the surveys in that State had been actually established on the ground and completed. Cases, however, have arisen, where, from the lapse of time or other causes, the marks of the original surveys have been obliterated; and others where it is represented that over the whole or part of township the lines of survey have not been actually run and established, notwithstanding the land had been returned as surveyed.

Persons desiring to enter these lands, or those who have already purchased, occasionally apply to have the boundaries of the tracts surveyed. The United States surveyor general has not now the data on which to give the necessary instructions to his deputies; and if he had, his power legally to act in the matter since the transfer may well be doubted. The State officer having the custody of the plats and documents has no authority in the premises, and the department is without the ability to exercise the necessary control over such lands, and is consequently unable to extend the relief which has been applied for.

Cases also may arise where subdivisions of existing surveys may be requisite to enable the land officers to dispose of tracts of public lands, but such subdivisions cannot be legally certified and returned, under existing circumstances; and hence further legislation, as suggested, is necessary, and is now recommended.

For details of the surveying operations during the past year, and those contemplated for the ensuing, I beg leave to refer to the reports of surveyors general herewith transmitted, marked I.

These documents show that the trust committed to those officers appears to have been ably and faithfully executed, and that in all their operations the public interest and convenience of settlers on the public domain have been constantly kept in view.

In connexion with this subject, it is eminently due not only to the surveyors general, but likewise to the local land officers, that I should bear testimony to the great fidelity and zeal with which, generally, they have discharged the duties confided to them, and to the promptness and energy with which they have endeavored to give efficacy to the views and suggestions of this office in accomplishing the great objects of its institution.

The surveyor general of Ohio reports that the provision made by the fourth section of the act of 10th August last, for the survey of that portion of the boundary between Michigan and Wisconsin which lies between the sources of the Brulé and Montreal rivers, is insufficient, and that at least five hundred dollars additional will be required for that service.

As no provision was made during the recent session of Congress for determining the questions of boundary between Georgia and Alabama, and Florida, and between Missouri and Kentucky, so far as Wolf island, in the Mississippi, is concerned, I would again call attention to those matters, as the early settlement of them is highly important.

It also appears that a boundary has been surveyed between Arkansas and Missouri, under authority from the legislatures of those States, different from that established by the United States. As the latter is recognised by law as the boundary of the land districts thereon, it is absolutely necessary that the new line should be confirmed by Congress, and the boundaries of the adjacent districts be made to conform to it.

I would invite attention to the delay and difficulties experienced in locating private claims in Florida, which were suggested in the last annual report.

These difficulties seem to be increasing; and notwithstanding the skill and experience of the officer in charge of the surveys in that State, it is frequently impossible to come to a satisfactory conclusion in relation to the location of some of those claims.

The passage of an act requiring them to be located according to the lines of the public surveys, so as to embrace the ancient improvements, where the claimants fail or refuse to identify the boundaries of their grants, would, it is believed, obviate those difficulties.

The resurveys in Louisiana, under the judicious and able direction of the surveyor general of that State, are rapidly progressing, and it is confidently expected that, under the systematic arrangement now in force in that district, the confusion, doubt, and difficulty heretofore existing in relation to many of the land titles therein will soon be removed, and the whole land business of the State reduced to order and harmony.

Estimates for the surveying department for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1848, and for this office for the same period, are submitted herewith, marked E, F, G.

The duty of ascertaining the amount of damages sustained by the respective purchasers of public lands in township one south, of range seven east, in Michigan, required by joint resolution of the 10th August, 1846, was intrusted to the surveyor general at Detroit. That officer will make the necessary investigations in person, and report the facts, it is expected, in time to be laid before Congress early in the session.

Statement H, herewith, exhibits the action of this office on the selections made by the several States to which grants were made by the act of 4th September, 1841, entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights."

The act of Congress of the 3d of August last, in relation to suspended entries, will doubtless be productive of most beneficial results, and afford ample relief to all claimants justly entitled to it. But, in consequence of the late period at which that act was passed, and the immense amount of labor which, since that time, has incessantly pressed upon this office, it has not been possible to prepare as many cases for adjudication under that law as may have been expected. A large number, however, has already been adjusted, and it is believed that during the ensuing year every remaining case coming within the provisions of that act will be finally disposed of; and thus this office will be relieved from a heavy miscellaneous correspondence which heretofore has greatly embarrassed its operations, while thousands of our citizens will obtain patents for their farms, long since paid for, and Congress be relieved from a great amount of harassing legislation.

A list of the cases adjudicated is now preparing, and will shortly be reported to you, to be laid before Congress, as directed by the second section of that act.

The act of 11th July last, authorizing the President "to sell the reserved mineral lands in the States of Illinois and Arkansas, and Territories of Wisconsin and Iowa, supposed to contain lead ore," under which those lands have been advertised for sale, and which is referred to in the foregoing, appears to be retrospective only in its character; and as the fifth section of the act of 3d March, 1807, which authorizes the leasing of lead mines and contiguous lands, remains unrepealed, it is a matter of serious doubt whether, under existing legislation, future discoveries of lead can be brought into market.

It will be observed, also, that by the act of 11th July last no provision is made for the sale of lands reserved or withheld on account of containing copper. The clear and convincing reasons, sustained by actual facts, given in the last annual report, to induce the sale of mineral lands, apply equally to tracts containing copper as to those reserved for lead. The leasing system has been fully and fairly tried for a long series of years, and found emphatically deficient. By authorizing the disposal of mineral lands, both copper and lead, at public sale and private entry, at the present minimum, and by pre-emption to the inhabitants residing on them, government will realize a fair equivalent for them, and be relieved from the onerous expense of sustaining the leasing system. The community at large will be benefited, as the mines will be more scientifically and thoroughly worked when owned by individuals, than under leases; the product of them will be proportionably augmented; and as the supply and demand regulate the market, the price of the metals will be materially reduced, and the general resources of the country greatly increased.

The leasing system, in fact, is not consistent with the genius and spirit of our people, who endure with impatience the species of vassalage which it induces. Some slight modifications of the act of 11th July last, making general provision for the sale of mineral lands as other public lands, and the repeal of the fifth section of the act of 3d March, 1807, will accomplish all that is desired on this subject, and relieve many cases of great hardship which could not have been anticipated, and which the present act will not reach.

The expediency of making further provision for the support of common schools in the land States has attracted much attention, and certainly is worthy of the most favorable consideration. Those States are sparsely settled by an active, industrious, and enterprising people; who, however, may not have sufficient means, independent of their support, to endow or maintain public schools. To aid in this important matter, Congress, at the commencement of our land system, and when the reins of government were held by the sages of the Revolution, set apart one section out of every township of thirty-six square miles. At that early day this provision doubtless appeared munificent, but experience has proved it to be inadequate. It is obviously necessary that at least one school should be established in each of those townships; and to do this, they have only the section of land above mentioned, worth about eight hundred dollars. To invest this sum safely, it cannot be made to yield more than forty-eight dollars per annum, which will not pay the salary of a teacher for a single month; and the whole of the principal would not enable a township to erect a suitable common school edifice, and employ a teacher for one year. It is evident, therefore, that this provision does not go far to accomplish the original design; and that, without the aid of other means, the citizens of those growing States cannot obtain the advantages of a general system of education.

I would, therefore, recommend that further grants of land be made for that object; and wherever the lands reserved for the use of schools are found to be valueless, that the proper officer of the State be authorized to select others in lieu of them.

The vast amount of public lands in Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi, periodically overflowed by the rise of the waters of the Mississippi and its tributaries, has recently attracted the attention of Congress, and information has been sought, with a view to ascertain the extent of this evil and the probable cost of its remedy. This information cannot be furnished from the records of this office, or those of the surveyors general; for the reason, that although the swamp lands are indicated by the surveys, it is not shown whether that character is derived from the overflows of the rivers or from local causes.

Besides, the elevation of the banks of the streams are not given, nor have we any means of ascertaining the rise of their waters when affected by rains and other causes.

This evil, it is believed, cannot be remedied by the construction of levees alone; for though this process may protect a particular tract of country from inundation, the accumulation of waters thus caused will probably break through, or flow over another point, and the evil be increased instead of lessened.

The only plan, it is considered, that would be likely to secure certain and permanent relief, is by combining levees with drains, either by artificial canals, or by opening and deepening the sluices by which the accumulation of waters have heretofore been slowly carried off.

The reports which have, at various times, been furnished by this office relative to this subject, are mere estimates without sufficient data, and may not approximate to correctness; it being impossible to come to any satisfactory conclusion without a topographical survey being first made of the Mississippi river and its tributaries, and also of the adjacent country.

The important modifications in the pre-emption laws suggested in the last annual report, and which have not yet received the attention of Congress, are entitled to favorable consideration. These laws, which were designed in a spirit of sound and parental policy, to secure to remote settlers their homes, are now wholly inoperative, so far as those hardy pioneers are concerned who settled upon unsurveyed lands. They certainly should not be thus excluded, for it is chiefly through their instrumentality that the fruitful valleys of the west have been opened up to the industrious and enterprising citizens who now throng to that region. They have endured all the hardships and privations attendant on a frontier settlement; have levelled the forest, broken up the prairie, and made a garden of the wilderness; and, certainly, it is not just that the hard-earned fruits of their labor shall be taken from them and given to others, merely because they settled after them, and have enjoyed the advantages won by their toil. The chief object of the law was, no doubt, to prevent settlements on Indian lands: such a restriction should be retained, in justice to the Indians, and to prevent the collisions which might otherwise arise; but, when the lands have been acquired from the Indians, our citizens should be free to settle on any part of them, and their improvements should be protected and secured by a general concession to them of the pre-emption privilege.

The invidious distinction created by the act of 4th September, 1841, against those who settled prior to the first of June, 1840, should be abolished, so far as it respects land reserved at the latter date, but which has since become subject to the pre-emption privilege, and like benefits conferred on all, without regard to the date of settlement.

In fact, the pre-emption principle should be divested of every unnecessary restriction, and extend to all who may desire land for actual settlement and cultivation, or for the necessary extension of their farms or plantations.

For many years past the average proceeds of the public lands have exceeded but little, if any, the minimum price fixed by law; and as pre-emptors are required to pay that price, it is manifest that no pecuniary loss can grow out of such arrangement; while, on the other hand, the gain from it of an industrious and independent yeomanry, having a direct and personal interest in the soil they cultivate, is of incalculable benefit, and constitutes, in fact, the true wealth of the country. If, indeed, there be any one portion of our citizens more justly entitled to the fostering care of government than another, it is certainly those hardy pioneers whose energy and enterprise are rapidly extending the bounds of civilization, reclaiming the vast forests of the western world, and converting them into abodes of domestic happiness and personal independence.

The expediency and propriety of a gradual reduction of the price of the public lands, it is believed, is generally admitted. To require from purchasers of waste and refuse lands the price charged for those of the best quality, is manifestly unjust and impolitic. It is, moreover, inconsistent with all ideas of correct commercial policy, and, if persevered in, may fasten on the government the expense of the present land system for ages. The manner of making this reduction is a subject which has attracted much attention, and on which there is some difference of opinion. That all the public lands should be arranged in several classes, is obvious; and that the value of those in each class should be determined by the period of time they have been in market, is conclusively shown by the clear and forcible remarks on that subject in the last annual report from this office. It is but natural, indeed, that the first settlers should select the best lands; and as those settlements extend, lands of less value are brought into requisition, either for the extension of improvements already made, or for cultivation by subsequent settlers; and thus it is clear that the least valuable lands are always left the longest in market. To establish the system of gradual reduction on this basis, it is suggested that all the public lands which have been in market not exceeding five years, be subject to entry at one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre; those which have been in market five years and upwards, shall be subject to entry for one year at one dollar per acre; after which, those that have been in market ten years and upwards shall be subject to entry for one year at seventy-five cents per acre. On the expiration of those two years, those which shall have been in market fifteen years and upwards shall be subject to entry for one year at fifty cents per acre; those which then remain unsold, having been in market twenty years and upwards, shall be subject to entry for one year at twenty-five cents per acre; and those then remaining unsold, and which have been in market twenty-five years and upwards, shall be ceded to the several States in which they lie, for such disposition as the legislatures of those States may determine on. After the lands have thus gone through the various gradations of price, all of them then in market, or which may thereafter be offered at public sale, shall be subject to entry for five years, after having been so offered at one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre; those which remain unsold after having been thus subject to entry for that period, at that minimum, shall be subject to entry the succeeding five years at one dollar per acre; those which remain unsold after the second period of five years, shall be subject to entry five years at seventy-five cents per acre; those which remain unsold after that third period, shall be subject to entry five years at fifty cents per acre; those which remain unsold after the fourth period, shall be subject to entry for five years at twenty-five cents per acre; and those which remain unsold after the fifth period, shall be ceded to the States in which they lie. By this classification and graduation, all the public lands of any value will yield to the government a fair equivalent; and the refuse, falling to the States, will probably be reclaimed and improved, and thus add materially to the general healthiness of the country, and the prosperity of the several States.

Should it be the pleasure of Congress, at any future time, to adopt the views of the late Commissioner, indicated in detail in the foregoing, in relation to the graduation of the price of the public lands, and the extension of the pre-emption privilege to all settlers on unsurveyed lands of which the Indian title shall have been extinguished, it is believed that very little on the subject will remain to be accomplished by future legislation.

The internal business of this office has been satisfactorily progressing, and as rapidly as was consistent with its complicated duties and multiplied details.

The business proper of the Recorder's office, in the preparation, recording, and transmission of patents, and other duties pertaining to that branch, has been carefully and diligently attended to, and efforts have been made with a view to a general emanation of such instruments of title at as early a period as possible after the official rendition of sales.

In Mississippi, large bodies of lands have been long withdrawn from market, awaiting a final determination as to all the tracts that would be required to satisfy reservations under the Choctaw treaty of 1830.

During the present year, such a return has been obtained from the War Department as enabled this office to despatch to the various local officers in the cession, lists of the particular tracts which would be wanted for Indian reservations, and to release the residue of the lands which had been held in suspense.

Under the act of Congress, approved the 17th of June, 1844, opening the courts for the adjudication of private land claims in several States, by a revival and extension of the act of the 26th of May, 1824, a considerable number of claims, some of immense magnitude, has been filed for adjudication. They were specially brought to the attention of this office by reference, with the transcript petitions, from the Solicitor of the Treasury.

The examination of those cases, the tracing of them, in connexion with the voluminous reports of the various boards of commissioners, the preparation of the necessary exemplifications from the records, and of the official reports to the Solicitor on the various claims, occupied much time, care, and attention, and involved a great amount of labor. They have all, however, been reported on by this office, and our docket is cleared, so far as the action of this office has been required in the premises.

The surveying business has been carefully managed, securing, as far as practicable, correct surveys, prompt returns, with a faithful and economical disbursement of public moneys; and a large number of pre-emption cases referred to this office for instruction or decision, or which required supervision and examination, have been attended to with fidelity and promptly settled.

The registering of the various returns of sales has steadily progressed, the quarterly accounts of the different receivers of public moneys have been adjusted, generally, up to the close of the second quarter of the present year; and, in addition to the ordinary duties under this head, complete sets of new books have been opened for the new land office in Iowa, and for portions of different land districts in Indiana, which were found necessary in consequence of legislation had during the last session of Congress.

The miscellaneous business of the office, involving a very heavy correspondence and many perplexing details, has received its share of attention, and been promptly despatched.

In view of the new Territories, now rising in importance in our growing country, it becomes my duty to recommend the extension over them of our admirable land system; for the present NEBRASKA could be attached to the surveying district of Missouri or Arkansas.

In OREGON a separate surveying district will of course be necessary. The officer who may be intrusted with it could be required, in addition to the ordinary duties of surveyor general, to perform for a time many inipient and even final acts, which may be important to the people, and essentially aid in introducing our land system. Instead of expensive boards of commission, he could be made the recipient of notices of intended locations and proofs of actual settlement, in case it should be the policy of Congress, as it doubtless will, and which I earnestly recommend, to hold out, by liberal donations of land, proper inducements for emigration to that sparsely settled and remote region.

It requires no spirit of prophecy to tell that our nation will reap the rich reward of an enlarged and benevolent policy in this particular. By a grant of a few hundred acres to the Oregon settler, emigration will be stimulated and encouraged; the tide of population, now taking that direction, swelling under this new impetus, will speed its way to the distant west. We will send out an enterprising race, bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh, whose descendants, at no very distant period, will line the rivers of the Territory and the shores of the Pacific. The emigrants will bear in grateful remembrance a munificent legislation towards them. Their agricultural and commercial enterprise will yet give new vigor to the elder portion of the confederacy, acting, as they will, upon its industry and capital; whilst they carry with them our free institutions, and form the surest guarantees for their preservation and perpetuation in the remotest confines of the republic.

With great respect, your obedient servant,

JAMES H. PIPER,

Acting Commissioner.

Hon. ROBERT J. WALKER,

Secretary of the Treasury.

REPORTS OF THE SURVEYORS GENERAL.

REPORT OF THE SURVEYOR GENERAL OF OHIO, INDIANA, AND MICHIGAN.

SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Detroit, November 7, 1846.

SIR: In compliance with the instructions contained in your letter of the 31st of August last, I respectfully submit the following report on the condition and progress of the surveys of the public lands in this district for the past year, with the accompanying exhibits, together with estimates of the amounts that will be required for surveys, incidental expenses, salaries, and clerk hire, for the fiscal year ending on the 30th of June, 1848.

In Ohio, the books, records, field-notes, maps, plats, papers, and documents of every description appertaining to the surveys of public lands therein, were, on the 29th day of July last, delivered over to the executive of that State, and an inventory thereof was forwarded to you, to be placed on file in the General Land Office. The business of this office is therefore closed, so far as relates to that portion of the district, with the exception of a small amount of recording, which it is expected the former chief clerk of the office will complete during the present quarter.

In Indiana, the survey of the Miami reservation, containing 27 townships and fractional townships, has been put under contract. The field work is now progressing, and is to be completed by the first of January next. The execution of this work has been delayed by the sickness of the deputy, who contracted to survey the exterior township boundaries, and to subdivide a portion of the townships. He abandoned his work and contract, and his district has been assigned to another deputy, who is now in the field.

Under instructions from the Commissioner, all the islands in the St. Joseph's river which were worth surveying have been surveyed, field notes returned to this office, plats completed, and copies thereof have been transmitted to the General and district land offices.

Diagrams and notes for the information and use of a deputy who may execute the survey of all the islands in the Tippecanoe, and other rivers, are in course of preparation, and instructions will be given for such survey as soon as a competent person can be found who will perform the work.

Tipton's island, in township 7 north, range 6 east, of the 2d principal meridian, has been surveyed during the past summer in accordance with your instructions, and a copy of the field-notes and plat thereof transmitted to you.

Under your instructions of the 15th of December last, township 33 north, range 11 east, of the 2d principal meridian, has been resurveyed, and all difficulties growing out of the erroneous and fraudulent original survey of that township have, it is believed, been settled to the satisfaction of the owners of land therein. A plat of the resurvey was transmitted to you some months since.

Under your instructions of the 8th of January last, Henry Jackman, esq., of Indiana, was employed to resurvey township 2 north, of range 9 east, of the 2d principal meridian, in that State. Preparatory to the commencement of his work, he proceeded to make an examination of the old survey, according to which there appeared to be two sets of parallel section lines running through the township, east and west, about twenty rods apart; and finding some of the old section and quarter section corners on one set of lines, and some on the other, so that a line to connect those corners would have to be run zig-zag, he reported the facts in the case, together with his opinion that it would be impracticable to make a resurvey of said township that would be satisfactory to the persons concerned therein. As this opinion seemed to be correct, and as a resurvey of the township under such circumstances, where the land had all been sold, would probably increase instead of relieve the difficulties already existing, Mr. Jackman was advised, pursuant to your directions, that the purchasers of land in the township must be left to agree on compromise lines between themselves.

The resurvey of Pine, Harris, and Stony lakes, and the adjacent lines, in township 37 north, of range 3 west, of the 2d principal meridian, as directed in your letter of the 29th of August last, is now progressing, and will soon be finished.

It is hoped that all the surveys in the State of Indiana will be finished, and the maps and records completed, so that the field-notes, maps, records, papers, and documents of every description appertaining to the surveys of the public lands in that State, may be handed over to the proper State authorities about the last of next year.

In the southern peninsula of Michigan, thirty-two townships of erroneous and defective surveys, north and west of Saginaw bay, have been resurveyed, and the township plats made and transmitted to the General Land Office.

Ten other townships of erroneous and defective work remain to be resurveyed; and these, with the subdivision of twenty-three unsurveyed townships north of the third correction line, and about three and a half townships in the Manister reserve, on the border of lake Michigan, will complete the surveys of this peninsula.

There is reason to believe, however, that many of the surveys heretofore made in the northern portion of the peninsula are erroneous and fraudulent, and that resurveys will have to be made to a very considerable extent. Examination ought now to be made of the suspected districts, in order that resurveys, if necessary, may be made before the sales of lands shall embarrass the proceeding.

Under your instructions of the 19th of June last, Mr. Samuel Pettibone was employed to complete the defective surveys of a portion of township 3 south, of range 4 east, the field-notes of which have been received, and copies of the plats forwarded to the General and district land offices. A transcript of the field-notes has also been sent to the General Land Office.

Under your instructions of the 14th February last, the exterior boundaries of the private claims on the river Raisin have been retraced, marked, and re-established, and the strips of vacant public land in the vicinity have been surveyed as far as practicable, until the correct lengths of all the lines of the private claims, as those lines are described in the patent of the several claims, can be obtained from the General Land Office.

Mr. Risdon, the deputy employed in this service, found a disagreement between the lengths of the lines of the claims as described in Greeley's certificates of survey and the lengths of the same lines as described in the patents held by the claimants, so far as he was permitted to see these patents, which disagreement this office has no means of explaining.

In the northern peninsula of Michigan, since the last annual report of this office, the field-notes of the survey of the exterior township boundaries of 48 townships and fractional townships, at the north end of lake Michigan, south of township 43 north, and east of range 23 west, have been returned and approved, and a plat of the survey transmitted to you.

Within the same time, the field-notes of the subdivision of 64 townships and fractional townships, between lakes Michigan and Superior, have been returned, examined, and approved, and copies of the plats thereof transmitted to your office.

A contract has also been entered into for the subdivision of ten other townships and fractional townships, embracing the pine lands and saw-mills in Little Bay de Noquet. The field work is more than half finished, and will be nearly or quite completed by the 1st of January next. The above surveys are all in that portion of the northern peninsula which lies east of the mining district. In the mining district, during the same time, there have been returned and approved, under the contract made with the late Dr. Houghton for the survey of 4,000 miles, "with reference to mines and minerals," the field-notes of the exterior boundaries of 76 townships and fractional townships, amounting to 684 miles 36 chains and 29 links; and the field-notes of the subdivision of 39 townships and fractional townships, amounting to 1,894 miles 13 chains and 58 links, making, together, 2,578 miles 49 chains and 87 links, and plats thereof, accompanied by a geological and topographical report, were forwarded to you early last spring. These returns, with the 205 miles 62 chains and 35 links mentioned in the last annual report, make 2,784 miles 32 chains and 22 links now returned and paid for under the above mentioned contract.

Seven townships and fractional townships which were subdivided under the direction of Dr. Houghton, and the field-notes of which were either wholly or partly lost at the time of his death, are now being resurveyed by a competent deputy, under an arrangement for that purpose with the administrators of Dr. Houghton's estate, and the returns are expected within three or four weeks. The survey of the unfinished balance of the 4,000 miles embraced in Dr. Houghton's contract, estimated at 950 miles, was assigned to Sylvester W. Higgins and Hiram Higgins, as topographical surveyors, and to Bela Hubbard, esq., formerly assistant of Dr. Houghton, as geologist. The field work, which embraced the subdivision of all the townships laid off last year on the trap range west of Portage lake and on the Porcupine mountains, is reported to be done, and the notes thereof have been returned to this office, and are now under examination.

Surveys in the mining region, "with reference to mines and minerals," to be paid for out of the $25,000 apportioned to this district under the act of 10th of August last, have also been carried on during the past season by William A. Burt, esq., and sons, and by Messrs. Ives and Hubbard.

The Messrs. Burt have extended the fourth correction line west from the west side of range 23 west, to the Menomonie river, in range 30 west; and north of this line, and of the Menomonie and Brulé rivers, and south of the 5th correction line, they have surveyed the exterior boundaries of all the townships not heretofore surveyed as far west as range 36 west, including the south boundaries of all the townships in that range, excepting the south boundary of township number 50; making in all about 86 full townships. They have returned from their work in the field, and are now arranging their geological and topographical information, for the purpose of reporting the same, with their field-notes, to this office.

Messrs. Ives and Hubbard, the former as surveyor and the latter as geologist, have nearly completed the subdivision of the fourteen townships and fractional townships which were laid off last year on the border of lake Superior, between township number 48 north and range 32 west, near the head of Kee-we-naw bay. Their field-notes and geological and topographical report will probably be received by the 1st of January next.

With the balance of the appropriation of this year that will remain after paying for the above mentioned work, it is proposed, next season, to complete the survey of the exterior boundaries of all the townships remaining to be laid off in Michigan, and to subdivide Isle Royale, a large island abounding in mineral wealth near the northern coast of lake Superior.

It is also proposed, if the necessary appropriation be made, to subdivide, "with reference to mines and minerals," at least 60 townships next year, in such portions of the mining country south of the fifth correction line as may be most needed by persons who have made locations there for mining purposes; and an estimate is herewith presented for that purpose, together with an estimate for the survey of ten townships not included in the mineral district.

During the year ending on the 30th of September, 1846, there have been recorded in this office the field-notes of 282 townships, 191 of which are of surveys in the State of Indiana, and 91 of surveys in the State of Michigan, covering 8,621 pages of large cap paper.

There have been transcribed for preservation at the seat of government the field-notes of 108 townships and fractional townships, 80 of which are of surveys in the State of Ohio and 28 of surveys in the State of Indiana, covering 2,570 pages, and making in the aggregate of records and transcripts 22½ volumes of 500 pages each. Besides the above, the descriptive notes of 28 townships have been necessarily copied in separating the records of Ohio from those of Indiana.

The field-notes of the survey of the exterior boundaries of 129 townships and fractional townships, and of the subdivision of 140 townships and fractional townships, have been examined and approved. Original plats of the last named townships have been made for this office, the contents of the several tracts therein have been calculated, and copies of the plats have been made and transmitted to the General Land Office; also, the copies of 81 township plats, and the descriptive notes of 40 townships and fractional townships, have been prepared ready for transmission to the district land offices. Twenty-one plats of surveys of islands in the St. Joseph's river of lake Michigan have also been completed, calculations made, and copies of the plats prepared and transmitted to the General and district land offices.

Accompanying this report you will receive the following estimates and exhibits, viz:

A. General statement of receipts and disbursements for surveying the public lands in the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan, for the year ending on the 30th of September, 1846.

B. Estimate of salaries of surveyor-general of Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan, and of the clerks in his office, for the fiscal year ending on the 30th of June, 1848.

F. Triplicate maps of Indiana, showing the townships of which the maps descriptive, and field-notes, have been recorded and transcribed, with the surveys of the Miami cession now under contract.

LUCIUS LYON, Surveyor General.

REPORT OF THE SURVEYOR GENERAL OF ILLINOIS AND MISSOURI.

SURVEYOR'S OFFICE,
St. Louis, October 30, 1846.

SIR: In compliance with your instructions of the 31st of August last, I herewith submit the following report upon the operations of this office since the 30th of October, 1845, the date of my last annual report.

1st. Receipts and expenditures of public funds.

Accompanying statement A shows the amount of public funds received and expended under the several appropriations for surveying, the apportionment for incidental expenses, and the appropriations for clerk hire. The balance in my hands is $3,177 34.

2d. Surveys of public lands in Missouri under general appropriations.

Statement B represents the condition of the contracts (No. 1 to 16) which had been let out under the appropriations of 1844 and 1845. They are, with the exception of about 90 miles of surveys not yet executed under contract No. 11, for the reasons stated, all completed, and the plats of the surveying embraced therein have been sent to the General Land Office, as also the plats of townships subdivided, to the several registers, with the exception of townships 67, ranges 34, 35, 36, 41, 42, 43, which are not included in the present land district of Plattsburg, and may eventually fall within the limits of the Iowa Territory when the question of the north boundary of Missouri is finally settled. Statements furnished the General Land Office on the 20th instant show that the whole amount of these two appropriations is expended.

The contracts from No. 17 to No. 26 are those entered into under the appropriation of 10th of August, 1846. Care has been taken, in compliance with the instructions of the 31st of the same month, to select for subdivision the best settled and most fertile unsurveyed lands. See, for the surveys contracted for, diagram H.

3d. Surveys of public lands in the southeast part of Missouri, east of the meridian.

Statement C exhibits the contracts let out under the special appropriation of $4,150 of 10th of August, 1846, for these surveys, at $5 per mile, on account of the difficulties attending their execution in that marshy section of country.

4th. Plats of townships recently surveyed.

Statement D represents in detail the plats of townships recently surveyed in Missouri, (except the four in the Jackson district,) which were transmitted to the General and the district land offices. The number of townships is 75; that of plats sent is 144; the aggregate of acres, exclusive of the bed of meandered rivers and private surveys, but inclusive of school sections, is 1,587,812 acres. No plats remain to be sent of returned surveys under the appropriations for surveying the public lands.

5th. Copies of field-notes of public surveys.

Statement E gives the data of the progress which has been made in copying field-notes of the surveys in both States, to be preserved at the General Land Office.

During the year, forty-nine volumes of copies of Illinois notes, and twenty-two volumes of copies of Missouri notes, were sent to the General Land Office: fourteen volumes remain to be forwarded. They are, with the exception of two, ready for transmission.

this description will be required to be made.

6th. Private land claims confirmed in Missouri by the act of 4th of July, 1836.

Statement F exhibits the progress made in the field and office work upon these claims. Those the surveys of which are approved and paid for are finally disposed of immediately on the return of the diagrams thereof, which had been sent to the General and district land offices for the purpose of obtaining the data of the valid interferences therewith on account of lands sold or disposed of by the United States prior to the passage of the confirmatory act; that is, the surveys are platted, described, and recorded, certificates of new location issued in case of interferences, and complete plats of the claims and the sections made fractional thereby are made out and transmitted to the several offices.

It is, indeed, to be desired that a prompt return should be made of the diagrams alluded to, in order to enable this office to act definitively upon the surveys of such claims as remain on that account in an incipient state of completion.

7th. Surveys of the towns and villages in Missouri named in the act of 26th May, 1824.

Joseph C. Brown, esq., who contracted, on the 26th of April, 1843, for the survey of the villages of St. Charles, St. Ferdinand, Portage des Sioux, Village à Robert, New Madrid, and Little Prairie, has completed and returned his work. So much of it has been examined as was necessary to make out plats and descriptions of individual lots. William Cozens has been instructed, on the 9th of May, to run out the unsurveyed lots at the south end of the Grand Prairie and cul de sac common fields of St. Louis; but the difficulty of ascertaining with accuracy from the ancient records the limits of those valuable lands, the great number of claims conflicting with each other, and the discrepancies between the boundaries of the old concessions and those of the new lots proven under the act of 26th May, 1824, have as yet prevented that surveyor from executing and returning the work intrusted to him.

During the year, connected maps of the town of St. Louis, and of the villages of New Madrid and St. Ferdinand, were constructed and copied.

There were platted, described, and recorded, to wit:

Eighteen lots in the villages of New Bourbon and Sainte Genevieve.

Sixty-five lots in the village of St. Ferdinand.

Forty-two lots in the common field of the village of Carondelet.

Twenty lots in the common field of Barrier des Noyers, St. Louis.

Eleven lots in the city of St. Louis.

There were, also, the plats of 95 lots in the villages of New Bourbon and St. Genevieve recorded; and made out, but not yet recorded, the plats and descriptions of 15 lots in the village of Carondelet, 18 school lots in the village of St. Ferdinand, and nine lots in the city of St. Louis.

8th. Surveys of detached lines in Illinois and Missouri, under the appropriation of $3,000, of 17th June, 1844, and surveys of erroneous and defective lines under the appropriation of $1,200, of 3d March, 1845.

All surveys of detached lines contracted for before the 30th of October, 1845, have been completed, returned, examined, and plats and accounts sent off, except a few lines still remaining to be run by George B. Sargent. During the year, D. A. Spaulding executed some surveying in townships 15 and 16 north, range 13, and township 16, range 12, west of 3d meridian. I expect that, from time to time, small portions of work of this description will be required to be made.

Under the second appropriation, John Lampton has contracted for the resurvey of defective surveys in townships west of the meridian in Missouri, principally along the banks of the Missouri river. The surveys of some islands in the Desplaines and Kankakee rivers, in Illinois, have also been executed, and were paid for out of this fund.

Instructions for the resurvey of township 13 north, range 2 east, 4th principal meridian, were issued in compliance with the directions of the acting Commissioner of the 11th of July last, it having been reported that the surveyor who returned the subdivision of that township never established the corners described in the field-notes thereof. This resurvey has been made, and the return, it is expected, will soon come in.

9th. Miscellaneous.

The plats and descriptions of fifteen surveys of private claims confirmed in Missouri prior to the act of 4th July, 1836, were made out and recorded.

The letters, reports, and statements written during the year amount to 520; they are recorded on 308 pages of foolscap paper.

Two hundred and eight plats of detached sections, or of subdivisions, have been made out and sent to the General Land Office; and copies of 153 of those plats have been transmitted to the registers.

Two hundred and sixty-eight descriptive lists of townships in Missouri, and 122 in Illinois, were made, and 113 sent to the register at Fayette, Missouri.

10th. Estimates of funds wanted for the operations of the office during the year ending on the 30th of June, 1848.

Item No. 1 of accompanying statement G is for the amount wanted to pay for the proposed surveys in Missouri, at the customary price of $3 per mile. Their locality is represented on diagram H, west of the meridian.

No. 2 is for 900 miles of surveying in the southeast part of the State of Missouri, east of the meridian, at $5 per mile, on account of the difficulty of the work, arising from the swamps, lakes, marshes, &c., spread over this section of country. The appropriation made at the last session of Congress for those surveys will pay for about one-half of what now remains to be done, and I have deemed it conducive to the interest of the government, as well as that of the settlers, to ask for the means of completing the public surveys in that portion of this district.

Item No. 3.—The $2,000 asked for will be needed to prosecute the work on the surveys of the lots of towns and villages in Missouri, in addition to the unexpended amount of former appropriations. The labor on these surveys was already considerable as to the platting and descriptions thereof; but to it must now be added that demanded by the instructions of the 18th of April last, requiring the surveyor general, in case of interferences of confirmed lots with others, to make from the old records an examination of their respective origin, nature, and confirmation; state the whole at the end of the plat and description of each lot thus interfered with; and then give his opinion as to which conflicting claims should have precedence over others. This, I conceive, is an all-important improvement in this branch of the service, inasmuch as those statements will enable the Commissioner to issue patents with discrimination and a due regard to the interests of all concerned; they will also point out to the owners of lots the facts upon which rests the right to their property, and otherwise prevent a vast amount of litigation; but, at the same time, the instructions referred to have thrown on the surveyor general delicate and responsible duties, that he can conscientiously perform only by the most patient and complete investigation of the ancient records left by the French and Spanish authorities, and those subsequently made under our government. Besides this, it is my intention to continue with vigor the prosecution of this business, in order to quiet the incessant demands of owners of private lots and of school corporations, by applying thereto the services of all the clerks who are conversant with it, when they are not engaged in the current operations of the office. I therefore respectfully recommend this item to your consideration.

Items Nos. 4 and 5 are for the salary of the surveyor general and the salaries of the clerks, as fixed by law.

Items Nos. 6 and 7 are needed to compensate for the deficiency of the regular appropriation for clerk-hire under No. 5.

Item No. 8 is for the prosecution of the copying of field-notes to be preserved at the seat of government. To stop this branch of the service in its present state, would be the cause of postponing its completion to an indefinite period, on account of the annual accessions of field-notes of new surveys to the remaining portion of old notes not yet transcribed.

Item No. 9 is for the record of field-notes of public surveys to be kept in this office. This record is required by law, and particularly pointed out in the general instructions of Commissioner Hayward of 23d September, 1831. It appears, from some old books here, that it had been attempted, but never was carried to any extent, doubtless on account of the want of adequate appropriations for that service. During a number of years past no mention seems to have been made of this business; but I felt it my duty to ask for the means of prosecuting it at once; for, should it be deferred to a future time, a considerable amount of old field-notes, now hardly legible because of the paleness of the ink, will soon become entirely obliterated.

No. 10 is for the incidental expenses of the office. The decrease of expenditures under this head has enabled me to reduce the ordinary amount of $1,500 to $1,000.

I am, very respectfully, sir, your obedient servant,

F. R. CONWAY,

Surveyor of the Public Lands in the States of Illinois and Missouri.

JAMES H. PIPER, Esq.,

Acting Commissioner of the General Land Office, Washington.

REPORT OF THE SURVEYOR GENERAL OF WISCONSIN AND IOWA.

OFFICE SURVEYOR GENERAL WISCONSIN AND IOWA,
Dubuque, October 18, 1846.

SIR: In compliance with your instructions of the 31st of August last, received on the 29th ultimo, I have the honor to transmit herewith a history of the operations of my office during the year closing this day, with the following maps, exhibits, and estimates:

Triplicate skeleton maps, both of Wisconsin and Iowa, marked A, representing the surveys executed out of the appropriation of the 3d of March, 1845, and those contracted for out of the appropriation of the 10th of August, 1846; also those recommended for survey in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1848.

Tabular statement B, exhibiting the progress and condition of that portion of the surveys contracted for out of the appropriation of the 17th of June, 1844, and of the 3d of March, 1845, that were not closed at the date of my last annual report.

Tabular statement C, showing the number, character, and amount of surveys contracted for out of the appropriation of the 3d of March, 1845, subsequently to the date of my last annual report.

Statement D exhibits the surveys contracted for out of the appropriation of the 10th of August, 1846.

Statement E exhibits my salary and disbursement account current for the fourth quarter of 1845, and the first, second, and third quarters of 1846.

Statement F exhibits an estimate for appropriation requisite for surveying the public lands of this district in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1848; also, an estimate for appropriation requisite for the surveyor general, and regular and piece clerks in his office, for the same period.

Fractional township No. 21 north, range No. 19 east, of the fourth principal meridian, embraced in a contract with John Bannister, esq., dated August 16, 1843, and surveyed and resurveyed by him, has not yet been executed in an admissible manner. Mr. Bannister has been amply instructed and repeatedly written to upon this subject, but has, since October, 1845, made no reply. I shall contract with another deputy for the survey of the said township as soon as the season arrives most favorable for surveying in that region.

All the surveys contracted for in obedience to your instructions of September 20, 1844, and of April 18, 1845, have been returned, platted, and approved; the accounts of the several deputies executing the same, accompanied by plats of the surveys by each, have been transmitted to your office.

Of these surveys (see statement B) there were still under execution in the field, or returned to the office, but not examined at the date of my last annual report, of

Statement C shows the condition of surveys contracted for in obedience to your instructions of April 18, 1845, and your further instructions of October 24, 1845, of March 27 and May 8, 1846, together with all other surveys, of whatever character, executed under authority from this office during that period. By this statement you will perceive that the amount of adventitious surveying executed during the past year greatly exceeds that of any preceding year. Many of these surveys have been peculiarly embarrassing both to my office and to the deputies executing them. All, however, are completed and disposed of except the resurvey by Paul C. Jeffries, esq., of the work executed by Willard Barrows under his contract of September 4, 1843. Mr. Jeffries has frequently reported upon his progress in the said resurvey, and has as often requested an extension of time in consequence of the severe and protracted illness of himself and party.

The field-notes of the surveys executed under contracts with the surveyor general at St. Louis, north of an extension of Sullivan's line, and consequently within my district, referred to in your letter of the 4th of August last, have been received at my office, but too late to be acted upon prior to the date of this report, or to be included in statements accompanying it.

You will perceive, from statement D, that of the surveys already provided for out of the appropriation of the 10th of August last, out of the whole number of miles contracted for, the proportion assigned to Iowa over Wisconsin is as two to one, while the whole cost of surveying the same in the former is to the latter as three to two. This proportion has arisen from the fact that the settlements upon the unsurveyed lands in Iowa are far more numerous and extensive than in Wisconsin, while the cost of surveying in the latter is much greater than in the former. The respective rates per mile in Wisconsin and Iowa, thus established, are based upon the actual facilities of surveying within each; and, although much too low in both, it is believed will operate favorably upon the character of the surveys.

Since the 18th day of October last, eighty township plats, upon a scale of two inches to the mile, have been constructed; two copies of each of which have been made—in all, two hundred and forty maps. One of the said copies, in company with the accounts of the several deputies executing the respective surveys, has been sent to your office, and the other to the proper district office.

Subsequently to the same date, there have been made two large maps, forming a comprehensive view and complete history of all the surveying operations in this district, both in the field and office;

Twenty-four large diagrams representing contracts of township lines;

Eighty-nine preface diagrams to accompany instructions to deputies;

Two hundred and twenty-six index diagrams to preface the records and transcripts of original field-notes; besides thirty diagrams and maps not embraced by any of the above heads.

Lists of the descriptive notes of seventy-five townships have been made out, completing this branch of work in the office until the return of the new surveys; one copy of each of which has been sent to the proper district land office.

The original field-notes of one hundred and thirteen townships have been transcribed for preservation at the seat of government, and the original field-notes of ninety-six townships recorded and placed on file in this office.

The letters, statements, reports, and instructions, written during the year, number not less than five hundred, the record of which covers about two hundred and fifty pages of large demy paper.

In addition to the above, the printed general instructions to deputy surveyors, which had been partially outgrown by the improvements in surveying and in surveying instruments, have been thoroughly revised, and made to embody every requirement that experience had made practicable, or that practice would make useful.

The transient and miscellaneous business of this office has been annually increasing since the day of its establishment, and has for years exceeded in amount the ability of the regular or salaried clerks to perform.

Owing to this fact, important work has been postponed, and the proper disposition of the effects of the office almost wholly neglected. Subsequently to the passage of the law of the 10th of August last, authorizing an appropriation of six thousand three hundred dollars for compensation of regular clerks in this office, two clerks, with prospective salaries, were employed to assist in dispensing the miscellaneous business, and in examining, arranging, and adjusting the files and records of the office. Unless the next approaching Congress make an appropriation for arrearage of salaries in my office, sufficient, at least, for compensation of two additional regular clerks for the year ending on the 30th of June next, I shall be forced to allow a per diem compensation to the said two clerks, as it is impossible to assign a price or even a name to much of the business transacted by them.

Of the $4,000 apportioned for compensation of piece clerks in my office for the present fiscal year, there was expended in the first quarter thereof $810 69. Of the remainder there will necessarily be consumed, in the transaction of indispensable business during the present quarter, $1,000, leaving but $2,189 31 to be paid for piece work during the first and second quarters of 1847. This balance, unless relieved by an additional salary fund as above suggested, is entirely inadequate to the execution of the platting and draughting that will be required and should be despatched within that period. I must, therefore, ask to have added to the $1,600 appropriated to this office by the act of 10th of August last, the sum of $2,400. With this amount added to the available balance of the appropriations, it is believed that the various branches of business in this office, which progress with the most certainty and with the least expense when simultaneously transacted, can be kept up.

Your instructions of August 31st, 1846, for a geological survey in Wisconsin Territory, arrived too late for execution before early spring, as it was not probable that a party could more than take the field before they would be driven from it by the deep snows of northern Wisconsin. As early, however, as the season will permit, the extension of the fourth principal meridian to lake Superior, or to the Montreal river, as the case may be, and the establishment of the fourth correction line, as suggested in your said instructions, will be put under contract. An ample base thus formed for the successful prosecution of geological surveys, or a connexion of geological with the ordinary surveys, it is hoped that future appropriations will enable me to contract for surveys of this character alone in that division of my district. And I will here respectfully recommend that no more exclusively linear surveys be contracted for in Wisconsin. It is impossible that any accurate or reliable information pertaining to the geology of a country should result from the prosecution of an ordinary survey; as the whole attention and time of the contractor, with all the expedition and industry he can command, are requisite to enable him, at the present rate of compensation per mile, to execute an accurate survey without incurring a pecuniary loss. Besides, the whole of the unsurveyed portion of Wisconsin, if the concurrent evidence of theoretical facts and the experience of those who have visited the country can be relied upon, is eminently valuable for its mineral properties.

If it is important, as it unquestionably is, to prosecute a geological survey in any portion of Wisconsin, it is equally important that such a survey should extend over the entire unsurveyed portion thereof. It is impossible to say what parts of the same are most valuable, or that any portion is not vastly valuable in point of minerals. Recently, discoveries of copper ore have been made in parts of that Territory long since surveyed, but which surveys furnished this office with not the most distant idea of the geology or mineralogy of the district within which they were made. Settlement upon the unsurveyed land of Wisconsin is progressing very slowly, though large portions of the same are being covered with claims preparatory to further advances in the discovery of mineral, and with the view also of securing the highly valuable pine forests of Black, Ojibwa, and St. Croix rivers. The saleable character of these lands cannot properly be determined by the advance of settlement. Their pine forests and copper ore offer, in my opinion, higher inducements for purchase, and would meet with more rapid sale if geologically surveyed, than the agricultural lands of any portion of my district. Should the government, however, decide upon the reservation of the lands containing mineral, the importance of an early and correct understanding of their precise location is obviously great.

The purchase, by the government, of the lands owned and occupied by the Menomonie Indians, is strongly recommended in the fact that those lands lie almost in the heart of the surveyed parts of Wisconsin, thus forming a barrier to the progress of settlement and a greater impediment to the accuracy and harmony of the surveys. Some portion of the country lying between the fourth principal meridian and the Wisconsin river has unquestionably been ceded, but the boundaries thereof have not, and cannot, except by an actual survey, be defined. Indeed, such is the confusion of treaty boundaries in that Territory, owing to the fact that different commissioners on the part of the United States have relied for information upon different, and some of them grossly inaccurate maps, it is almost impossible to fix a single boundary to the Menomonie lands.

The district recommended for survey west of the Mississippi river is already reached by settlements. Under inducements to immigration offered by the recent State organization in Iowa, added to the intrinsic beauty and richness of the country, no doubt can be entertained that it will rapidly and permanently fill up. The advance of these settlements will date with the surveys to which the lines of the different claims are to be adjusted.

The necessity of earlier appropriations for surveys in this district, that the same may be undertaken and prosecuted at a favorable season of the year, is a subject recommending itself to your earnest consideration. Your instructions for surveys out of the appropriation of the 10th of August last did not reach me until the 29th ultimo, rendering it impossible for a single deputy to reach the field of his operations earlier than the 15th instant, and consequently but a few weeks in advance of the frozen ground and snows. The deputies who hold themselves in readiness for surveying of this character are not generally of a disposition, nor in a situation, to scruple at disadvantages or hardships: at the same time, it is impossible to disguise the fact that the best efforts and most honest intentions must fail of executing a survey with the same accuracy and perfection in winter as in spring or fall. The lines may be, though at a greatly increased expense, as correctly run, but the corners, particularly in the prairie portions of my district—comprising probably one-half of the same—cannot be as faithfully and permanently established.

I must respectfully but urgently recommend an increased maximum rate per mile for surveys in this district. At the present established price, so much expedition is requisite in order to execute a survey without a loss of time, and perhaps of money, that errors of a character that the scrutiny of this office cannot detect, and that the penalty of the law will not prevent, are certain to find their way into the surveys. The cost of executing a survey is not to be compared with the cost of performing any other species of work. The surveyor's provisions and equipage are always to be transported over a trackless country; his supplies are to be carried a great distance, and his assistants are always to be employed at exorbitant wages. If overtaken by accident, such as the snows and frosts of winter, or the sickness of summer, a pecuniary loss is the unavoidable consequence. The present rate of compensation affords no indemnity in case of accident or unexpected difficulty, and is even insufficient when all the circumstances that attend the surveyor are favorable.

I am, very respectfully, sir, your obedient servant,

GEO. W. JONES,

Surveyor General of Wisconsin and Iowa.

Commissioner of the General Land Office,

Washington city, D. C.

REPORT OF THE SURVEYOR GENERAL OF ARKANSAS.

SURVEYOR'S OFFICE,
Little Rock, Arkansas, October 31, 1846.

SIR: Herewith I have the honor to transmit the accompanying documents with my annual report, in compliance with your instructions of the 31st August last.

The enclosed documents, in triplicate, show the extent of the surveys of the public lands executed in this district, and the internal operations of this office, during the year ending 30th September, 1846; also, the estimates for compensation of clerks, and the incidental expenses of the office, for the year ending 30th June, 1848.

Accompanying diagram, marked A 1, shows what progress has been made in the surveys of the public lands, and in copying field-notes of said surveys for transmission to the General Land Office.

Tabular statement marked B shows the extent of the surveys of the public lands executed during this year, under contracts which were unfinished on the 30th September, 1845, and those since contracted for; also, the amounts certified for payment of said surveys.

From the same statement it will be perceived that most of the contracts are completed; and those which are not yet finished, as shown in the remarks of the statement, appear to be incomplete, for reasons beyond the control of the deputy surveyors. I would, therefore, recommend an extension of time for the completion of said contracts.

Statement marked B 1 shows the amount of a part of the surveying fund received and disbursed by me, to defray the incidental expenses of this office during the year ending 30th September, 1846.

As it appears, from subsequent examination, that the amount recommended in my last annual report to finish the surveys of the public lands in Arkansas, and which was appropriated for that purpose at the last session of Congress, will fall short of its intended object by about $4,000, I would respectfully recommend the appropriation of the amount stated in tabular statement marked C, to cover such deficiency.

Amongst the surveying contracts yet unfinished is one of Mr. Charles H. Pelham, of the 31st January, 1845, embracing the lands situated on the northern boundary of this State. This boundary has recently been re-established by duly authorized commissioners from the respective States of Missouri and Arkansas, in pursuance of the acts of the legislatures of those States; and as said boundary differs from the one established by acts of Congress of the 6th March, 1820, and 10th August, 1821, admitting the State of Missouri into the Union, the recent surveys of public lands in that district have been consequently suspended, in conformity with your instructions of the 29th October, 1845, and until the further action of Congress shall decide upon said boundary. It is, therefore, of importance that Congress should decide at once upon this matter; and I would urge a speedy adoption of the line, that the unfinished surveys alluded to above, which are bounded by and are contiguous to it, may be completed without delay.

The clerks employed in this office, of whom I can say with justice all are competent and industrious in the discharge of their several duties, have been chiefly engaged in examining the returned surveys, calculating areas, and preparing township plats for the respective land offices; also, in copying field-notes, in making descriptive lists, and in the performance of other duties consequent upon the current business of the office.

From the tabular statement marked B, it will be perceived that in reference to the surveys returned during the last year, there have been made 287 maps for the different offices, 55 townships of descriptive lists for the register's offices, and 9 townships of field-notes copied for transmission to the General Land Office. In addition to the above, and in order to bring up the arrearages of this office, there have been made 112 maps for the General Land Office, district land offices, and this office; 62 townships of field-notes copied for the General Land Office, and 85 descriptive lists prepared for register's office.

To enable this office to act with promptitude upon the surveys which will be returned to it, as well as those which are not yet acted upon, the appropriation of the amount stated in document D is respectfully recommended.

A source of great annoyance to this office, as well as of injury to the public interests, has arisen from the frequent draughts made upon the clerks to serve upon the juries of the different courts. It is urgently desired by me that you would lay this matter before Congress, in order that the public business in this office may be by law protected from such frequent interruptions.

By reference to the diagram marked A 1, it will be seen that after the present contracts shall have been completed, the whole State will then have been surveyed; and I would respectfully suggest the propriety of attaching more territory to this surveying district, as a matter of economy to the general government. For instance, Texas or the Nebraska Territory might be annexed to this office, with advantage to the despatch of public business and the interests of government.

All of which is respectfully submitted by your obedient servant,

WM. PELHAM,

Surveyor of the Public Lands in Arkansas.

Acting Commissioner of the General Land Office,

Washington city, D. C.

WM. PELHAM,

REPORT OF THE SURVEYOR GENERAL SOUTH OF TENNESSEE.

SURVEYOR'S OFFICE, JACKSON,

October 21, 1846.

SIR: In compliance with your instructions of the 31st August last, I transmit my annual report of the operations of this office for the year ending 30th ultimo, with tabular statements and estimates as follows:

Statement A is an estimate of the sums necessary for salaries and contingent expenses of this office for the year ending 30th June, 1848.

Statement B exhibits the amount of surveying in miles, returned and paid for in the year ending the 30th ultimo, exclusive of private claims.

Statement C is an exhibit of the contracts for surveys which have been let out during the year ending the 30th ultimo, showing the probable number of miles included in each; also, the estimated amount of compensation.

Statement D is an exhibit of the warrants issued to confirmed claimants for deficits in quantity under the act of 3d March, 1845. A number of applications are on file, which have not received final action. I have no means of ascertaining the number of claims entitled to the benefit of the act, but it is believed there are not many remaining.

There are also forwarded, herewith, triplicate diagrams of this surveying district, representing the townships for which field-notes are entirely wanting, those for which they are partially wanting, and those of which only the boundaries are missing; also, those for which descriptive notes are yet required, and the townships to be re-surveyed under the late appropriation.

The surveys which have principally engaged the attention of this office since my last report are confined to the district west of Pearl river. Many delays and embarrassments have attended the execution and return of this work, resulting from the high water and other impediments encountered by the surveyors, as well in the field as in the necessary preparatory investigations of the records in this office. The number of private claims in that district, and the defective execution of the original surveys, all tend to embarrass the surveyors themselves, and the examination and projection of the work when returned.

There is but one deputy at present engaged in the district last mentioned. His contract embraces five townships, which will probably be returned in January next. No contracts have yet been entered into for the retracing authorized by the act of the 10th August last. There has not been sufficient time, since information was received of the appropriation, to prepare the necessary diagrams, &c., preliminary to giving out contracts. These are in course of preparation, and the work will be put in hand with all possible despatch as deputies competent to so difficult a service can be found. None but the most experienced surveyors can be safely intrusted with the work, but I apprehend no difficulty in being able to employ such.

A contract has been given to a competent deputy to survey sundry islands in the Gulf of Mexico, lying contiguous to the coast, with instructions to divide them into sections, to traverse them when necessary, and connect them with existing surveys in that part of this district. The same deputy has in hand a few other isolated pieces of original surveying, and his returns may be expected in by the 1st of December.

Since my last report, descriptive notes of forty townships—six in the Choctaw district, sixteen in the Choctaw cession, and eighteen in the district east of Pearl river—have been made out, and, with the exception of a few scattered townships, these complete the files of descriptive notes. None have been prepared in the district west of Pearl river, on account of the defects in the surveys before mentioned, which would render the notes of no value when done; and it will now be more proper to defer them till the retracing to be done in that district shall have commenced.

Triplicate maps of eleven re-surveyed townships in the district last mentioned have been made, and thirty-one plats of private claims, with their surveys, have been furnished the registers at Washington and Augusta.

The miscellaneous correspondence of the office has increased within the last year, particularly in relation to private claims, which frequently require much and tedious investigation of the records and files of correspondence, which are very voluminous. Some progress has been made in re-arranging and endorsing the old files, to facilitate the frequent references which become necessary, and the work will be persevered in till completed.

I learn from the register at Augusta that there are a number of private claims in the district east of Pearl river, (how many is not known,) the plats and surveys of which have not been recorded in his office. I am unable to explain the cause of this omission. A list of the missing claims will be obtained, with a view to supplying the deficiency.

Numerous discrepancies in regard to subdivisions have been discovered between the records of township maps in this office, the district offices and the General Land Office. In most instances it is impossible to discover at this day how these discrepancies were caused; but if some means were devised for correcting those yet undiscovered, either by a comparison of the maps or otherwise, it would avoid much tedious correspondence, and perhaps difficulty, affecting private rights hereafter.

Many confirmed and surveyed private claims have been found among the records of this office not represented on the township plats, which renders it difficult to determine what land is liable to subdivision for private entry. The projection of these claims upon the recorded plats will form an important part of the duties of this office for the ensuing year.

No estimates for re-surveying are forwarded with this report, as it is presumed the expenditure of the late appropriation, with the current business, will keep the force of the office constantly employed during the ensuing year.

I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

C. A. BRADFORD,

Surveyor south of Tennessee.

SURVEYOR'S OFFICE, Jackson, October 21, 1846.

C. A. BRADFORD, Surveyor south of Tennessee.

REPORT OF THE SURVEYOR GENERAL OF LOUISIANA.

SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Donaldsonville, La., November 9, 1846.

SIR: Agreeably to your instructions of 14th August last, I have the honor to submit the following report of the operations of this office since the 30th May, 1845.

On taking charge of its business at that date I found much dissatisfaction and discontent existing, not only among those immediately attached to the department, but also with those less immediately dependent, though in some measure connected with the monetary transactions of the late surveyor general; and my attention was therefore almost at once directed to the fiscal condition of its affairs. Every document upon which an examination could be based was found to have been abstracted from the files, nor had any record been kept by which a definite result could be arrived at; and it was only after copies of the vouchers of the late surveyor general had been forwarded from your office, that I was enabled to enter upon the investigation. The result has been the exposure of a system of fraud and forgeries involving crime of the deepest magnitude. As the subject is now before the courts of the country for examination, I need not further allude to it here than to state that much valuable time has been consumed in the consequent examinations, which otherwise would have been employed in the disposition of the large amount of back work found in the office, and my present report would have exhibited a considerably greater amount of surveys finally disposed of. As it is, however, the confusion of our affairs is being gradually cleared up; and I hope, with a few months more of assiduous attention, to get rid of the annoyance of back work, and to have no other impediments to contend with than those resulting from the incorrectness and faults of the ancient surveys in this section of the country.

With these preliminary remarks, I will enter, with as much briefness as possible, into the consideration of the affairs of the respective land districts.

In the northwestern district.—The surveys and connexions of the lines of public land with the line of demarcation between Louisiana and Texas, extending through 12 townships in range 16 west, have been completed and sent up. These, with the survey of the Grappe reservation and township 16, range 13 west, include all the work finally acted upon in the district.

Office examination and protraction have been made of township 10 north, range 7 west, which is now in process of correction.

I have estimated for the survey and correction of 7 townships, which, with the incomplete contract of Terrell and Kelly, of November 20th, 1837, is all that now appears necessary for the final close of the surveys in the district. There is little doubt, however, that the townships marked on the connected map with the letter D—ten in number—in which the greater number of private claims in the district are situated, will require much correction before this branch of the business can be closed.

In the district north of Red river.—There have been returned to the General Land Office 1 township map of old work, diagrams of the traverse of bayou Rigolette through 6 townships, survey of "My Wife's island," part of township 16, range 13 east, and 18 diagrams of locations of claims and subdivisions of sections.

Duplicates of the above, with one plat of a private claim emanating from that district, have been sent to the district office at Monroe.

I have estimated for the survey of 30 townships in this district, 9 of which are included in the fraudulent returns of Webster and McCollam; 16 of the fraudulent returns of W. McFarland, 4 included in old contracts now cancelled, and are therefore equivalent to new surveys; and 1 township of original work.

The lands embraced in these townships are of unbounded fertility, on navigable water-courses in the centre of the cotton-growing region. They are mostly settled by an enterprising and industrious population, who wait only the action of the government to perfect their titles, that they may bring large bodies of land, now unproductive, into a state of cultivation. The interest of the government, as well as that of the citizens, would seem to indicate that these surveys should receive early and favorable attention.

The late surveyor general, in his report of August 2d, 1843, called the attention of the government to the unsettled condition of the title to about 35 townships of land included in the claim of the Baron de Bastrop. I have again to direct attention to this subject. The interests of the people in this section of the State are seriously compromised by the uncertainty of the tenure under which they hold their lands, and it is highly desirable that the question of title should be settled with as little delay as possible.

The general character of the surveys in the district is good; and when the above mentioned work shall have been disposed of, the government will have little further trouble in bringing its affairs to a final and favorable close.

In the Greensburg (late St. Helena) district.—There have been returned to the General Land Office the maps of 16 townships of corrective surveys, under instructions of July 31st, 1844; 2 township maps made out from previous surveys; diagrams of the township lines from the basis meridian eastward to Pearl river, 14 townships; and the traverse of Pearl river through 1 township.

To the district office at Greensburg there have been sent 14 township maps of corrective surveys under the above mentioned instructions, 1 township map made out from previous surveys, 2 township maps for decision of confictions previous to final approval, and 89 separate plats of private claims.

Examinations and protractions have been made, and copies thereof, with the necessary instructions for resurvey. Copies of orders of survey, and certificates of confirmation for 35 townships, have been furnished to contractors.

Four townships have been returned, which are not yet examined and approved, and 1 township has been protracted and calculated, which is not yet sent up.

In the commencement of the resurveys in this district, this office and the surveyors labored under considerable difficulty on account of the requirement in the instructions of July 31, 1844, demanding resurveys to be made in strict accordance with the original orders of survey, which in many cases was impossible. This difficulty has been measurably removed, and the correction of the district much facilitated by the modification of those instructions by additional ones of April 22d and September 21st of the current year.

More difficulties have been found by the deputies in the prosecution of their field operations than they at first perhaps anticipated, which will account for the slowness with which the work, under the various contracts, comes in. It is understood, however, that a large portion of the outstanding contracts are in a state of forwardness, and will be returned in the course of the coming half year.

When deputies have failed to any considerable extent in complying with the conditions of their contracts, without satisfactory explanations, the contracts will be cancelled and the work given out to persons who will meet their obligations.

The character of the work already returned is of the highest grade, and will not give the government further difficulty.

In the southwestern district.—There have been returned to the General Land Office 11 township maps of original surveys, 2 copies of township maps, 10 diagrams of locations of claims and subdivisions of sections, and the field-notes of 2 townships.

To the district office at Opelousas there have been sent 9 township maps, 31 plats of private claims, 4 diagrams of confictions for decision, and 8 diagrams of locations of claims and subdivisions of sections.

I have estimated for the survey of 4 townships, in addition to the contracts now outstanding. It is believed, however, that every township in the district containing locations of private claims, which was surveyed and approved under the old system of principal deputy surveyors, will, when the claims come up for patenting, be found to require more or less correction, amounting in many cases to entire resurveys; and that, without the corrective surveys the business of patenting private claims cannot be closed. Townships of this class are marked on the connected map with the letter D, and are about 47 in number.

In the southeastern district.—There have been returned to the General Land Office the maps of 24 townships and fractional townships of new surveys, 1 copy of a township map, survey of Lanneaux's island, the field-notes of 19 townships, and 25 diagrams of locations of private claims, double concessions, and subdivisions of sections.

I have recommended for survey in this district 35 townships, estimated to amount, at augmented rates, to $6,670; and at $4 per mile, to $2,908; the latter item entirely for new surveys of the valuable lands in the rear of the townships already surveyed on the Mississippi river and the bayou Lafourche; the first item intended for the correction of old work, supplying field-notes of townships already surveyed and returned, but for which there are no notes in the office, and for some original surveys east of the Mississippi river, in the neighborhood of New Orleans.

The condition of the old surveys in the southeastern and southwestern districts, is a subject which demands the most serious consideration. Although heretofore marked on the maps as "surveyed," not one in ten of the townships containing private claims will stand the test of the most superficial office examination at the present time. So full of errors and discrepancies are they, that it is scarcely possible to take up a single separate plat of survey which will bear that kind of examination which, under present regulations, would entitle it to the official sanction of the surveyor general.

These errors and discrepancies have been caused by the loose, irregular, and independent manner in which the surveys were made, the number of surveyors permitted to operate in the same township, and the inadequate compensation allowed the officer appointed to examine the returns, which, depending, as it did, almost entirely upon the amount of work passed through his office, would not allow him to give every separate survey that careful mathematical consideration which it ought to receive previous to having the approval of an officer of the government.

I am at a loss to conceive how township maps could have been constructed and approved on the materials now found in the office.

My views in regard to the surveys made previous to the creation of the office of surveyor general of Louisiana may appear exaggerated; but, convinced as I am that special examinations will prove their entire correctness, and believing that partial examinations, corrections, or surveys are utterly useless, I have felt it my duty to represent fully the difficulties in the way of closing the surveys in these districts, and to recommend an entire revision of the defective townships, amounting in the two districts to about 106, on the principles so successfully adopted with surveys of the same character in the Greensburg district, to wit: re-examination and protraction of the old work, preserving such as may be found correct, and resurveying or correcting such as may be found erroneous. The expense will be heavy, but it will prove economy in the end.

During the past year my attention has been particularly called to the subject of preparing and sending up plats for the purpose of patenting private land claims. The majority of the claims, however, are situated within the two districts to which notice has just been given, and the separate surveys generally are not in a condition to justify me in giving them official sanction; consequently, little has been done.

A general reference abstract of all the private claims in the State, amounting to near 12,000, is now in course of preparation, and which, when complete, will be valuable for reference, and of material assistance in carrying on this branch of the public service.

While on the subject of private claims, I would remark that much difficulty and embarrassment are frequently experienced in deciding upon the location and correctness of the surveys, on account of the want of the original plats, and evidence on which the confirmations were based. To obviate this difficulty, I have introduced an item into my estimates for the coming year to pay the expense of procuring copies of these documents from the offices of registry. This matter was made the subject of remark in the surveyor general's report of October 20th, 1836, and by act of 3d March, 1837, $2,000 were appropriated. The object of the appropriation was carried into effect only in the Greensburg district. I hope the propriety of renewing the appropriation may be apparent.

Unexamined returns are now in the office for about sixty-one townships; forty of these are of the contract of Richardson and Powell, on the gulf coast, between the mouth of the Mississippi river and lake Borgne, and require for their return only the ordinary operations of protraction and calculation: the remaining twenty-one are extremely complicated, embracing several hundred private land claims which require special examination, not only in regard to the correctness of survey, but also with respect to titles and localities of the claims—examinations requiring not only much time, but an intimate acquaintance with the laws and instructions applicable to this branch of the service. In consequence of this and of the difficulties mentioned in my last paragraph, surveys of this character cannot be passed through the office with that rapidity which sometimes appears desirable. As fast, however, as my office force will permit, with a due regard to the interests of the government and the rights of individuals, they will be disposed of and the maps sent up.

The archives of the office, when transferred to me, were kept in dilapidated and cumbersome cases, difficult of removal in case of emergency, and by no means secure: these have been replaced, at a small expense, by neat and substantial amoures of red cedar, constructed in portable sections, in such manner that in case of fire or other accident the whole may, without deranging a book or paper, be readily removed to a place of safety.

Documents sent herewith, in triplicates:

No. 1.—Connected map of the State of Louisiana: this map has been prepared with much care, from special examination of every township in the State.

No. 2.—Tabular statement of contracts.

No. 3.—Statement showing the present liabilities of the office, heretofore sent, but sent herewith for ready reference.

No. 4.—Estimates for surveys heretofore sent, but sent herewith for ready reference.

No. 5.—List of persons employed in surveyor general's office.

No. 6.—List of deputy surveyors.

With much respect, your obedient servant,

P. T. LANDRY,
Surveyor General of Louisiana.

SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, Donaldsonville, November 9, 1846.

P. T. LANDRY, Surveyor General of Louisiana,

REPORT OF THE SURVEYOR GENERAL IN ALABAMA.

SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,

Florence, Ala., November 4, 1846.

SIR: In obedience to the instructions in your letter of the 31st August last, I have to report to your office the operations of this surveying district during the last year, and to submit estimates for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1848.

A few days after the last annual report from this office, under date 3d November, 1845, in accordance with the suggestions contained in your letter of the 22d October, on the subject of letting the contracts, I was enabled to secure the services of nine skilful and competent surveyors, to enter into contract for the resurvey of about 48 townships, for which an appropriation of ten thousand dollars had been set apart at the General Land Office. Owing to the hardness of the times, the scarcity of money, and competition among those applying for work, I was enabled to make more favorable terms for the government than heretofore, and succeeded in letting all the contracts to the deputies at the rate of three dollars per mile, thus causing a saving to the government of one dollar for each mile, amounting in the whole letting to more than three thousand dollars.

The contracts were all taken and closed by the 22d November, and the surveyors proceeded to the field. As the season was late, and fearing they might encounter bad weather, I extended the time of the completion of contract to four months. The fall and winter proving very favorable for field work, they were all enabled to complete their contracts within the time specified, and returned their original field-notes to this office for examination and protraction. The work proved to have been well done. It was immediately examined and protracted, the township plats prepared, the accounts of each deputy made out, and transmitted with the plats to the General Land Office during the months of March and April; and I am pleased to say the accounts were promptly examined and audited, and the amounts due to each surveyor transmitted to him in a few weeks thereafter.

I have also to state that the field-notes of the 48 townships have been recorded in the books of this office, a copy made for the General Land Office, and the register's office at Cahaba, for file and preservation, and sent to its destination. A copy of the township plats has also been prepared for this office. Thus has all the work of the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1846, been duly brought up and closed.

Shortly after the receipt of your letter of the 31st August, instructing me to contract for the resurveys of the present fiscal year, I began to look out for surveyors. I am gratified to say that I have succeeded in entering into contract with eight of the most competent and faithful deputies, upon the same favorable terms of the last year, except that I have been compelled to give and allow four dollars per mile for some of the township lines, owing to their scattered and detached situation, having no section work connected with them. In all other cases the contracts have been taken at three dollars per mile, township and section lines included, where the work is all connected. The contracts embrace about 47 townships, and 1,192 miles of township lines. The deputies have all left for the field, with the exception of one who lives in the southern part of the State, and who is daily looked for at this office to close his contract. The contracts being larger than those of last year, and as the weather may not prove so favorable, I have extended the time to five months, though I doubt not several of them will be able to finish their surveys in less time. I anticipate the return of some of them early in February. Soon as they begin to come in, their work shall be examined and protracted; if found correct, prepared and sent to the General Land Office, so that the whole of the surveys may be prepared and sent to your office by the close of the present fiscal year.

The clerk and draughtsman have been duly employed during the year in the examination and preparation of the work, and various other duties of the office. The clerk, at fixed prices per hundred words, has done his duty, having recorded the work and made two copies of the same—one for Washington, and the other for Cahaba.

On the 8th October I transmitted to your office the estimates for the next fiscal year, that they may be laid before Congress at the commencement of the ensuing session. I have now to repeat them in this report, to wit:

Retracing 35 townships, 2,520 miles, at $4 per mile	-	$10,080 00
Salary of surveyor general	-	2,000 00
Salary of clerk and draughtsman, $1,000 each	-	2,000 00
Salary of one clerk, to record and copy field-notes exclusively (per hundred words)	-	1,000 00
Office rent and fuel	-	250 00
Stationery, postage, &c.	-	200 00
		15,530 00

Triplicate copies of this district are sent, showing the surveys now under contract, marked B 1, and those proposed for next year, marked C.

Statement A exhibits the receipts and disbursements of the public moneys during the last year. As the deputies are paid direct from the treasury, no public funds pass into the hands of the surveyors general, except for the contingent expenses of their offices, their salaries, and those of their clerks.

Tabular statement B shows the situation of the contracts of the deputy surveyors, from which it will be seen that all of last year have been completed and paid for. Those just entered into do not expire until March next.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,

Florence, Ala., November 4, 1846.

JAS. H. WEAKLEY,

Surveyor General of the Public Lands in Alabama.

The contract of deputy surveyor George Mackay, entered into with me in July, 1845, has not yet been reported to this office. Those of depositions Randolph, Houston, and Tracey have been received, protracted, and regular reports by the deputy surveyors.

The contracts of Sloan, Reid, Garrison, and Jones are still in progress, but greatly retarded by freshets and sickness of horses, and which will continue; and it is deemed useless to make the maintenance of them cannot to send out the reports for the same to come, if had been here, prepared.

This morning one of the surveys near the Suwannee river, as recommended by my last report, is believed to be impracticable under any seasonable prospect of permitting the waters to subside; but it will be substituted for them when the contracts shall be entered.

I have had prepared, with much labor to my draughtsman G. B. Smith, a set of correct diagrams of the surveys executed in Florida, with the SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, FLORENCE, ALA., November 4, 1846.

JAS. H. WEAKLEY,
Surveyor General of the Public Lands in Alabama.

REPORT OF THE SURVEYOR GENERAL OF FLORIDA.

SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE,

St. Augustine, October 26, 1846.

SIR: In accordance with usage, and the requirements of your letter of date of August 31, I have the honor to make my annual report. Before entering into documental detail, I would respectfully call your attention to some facts properly applicable to this report.

But little progress has been made during the past year in locating the private land claims in Florida, from the reasons detailed in my former report, and from the resignation of the assistant surveyor, he having left the service while under instructions for the field of operation, and his successor not appointed until advised by your letter of the 25th May, received by me on the 2d of June; on which day I notified Major Beard thereof, who accordingly entered into bond, passed his receipts for the public property and official documents appertaining to his station, (duplicates of which were transmitted to the department,) and received his instructions to commence his labors in the field. Early on the morning of the 7th of July last the resignation of that gentleman was handed me, and immediately transmitted to the department for acceptance; since which period no advice of a new appointment has been received at this office, and the public property still remains in his possession.

I do not deem it necessary to detail the facts of the forcible prevention and subsequent suspension, by the department, of the surveys of the two Arredondo grants, (one of 20,000, the other of 38,000 acres, decreed by the Supreme Court of the United States, and having their locations at and near Alligator pond, in Columbia county,) as the department is already in full possession of all the facts; and the further action of this office in relation to these surveys stands suspended, and subject to the instructions of the department. The examination (under agreement and contract for the re-survey if found necessary) of certain suspended work intrusted to deputy surveyor Watson has been greatly retarded, from causes beyond his control. (Vide copy of his letter transmitted you from this office by my direction on the 7th day of September last.) I am in daily expectation of receiving his final report thereon under his instructions, a copy of which you have been furnished with.

The contract of deputy surveyor George Mackay, entered into with my predecessor in July, 1845, has not yet been reported to this office. Those of deputies Randolph, Houston, and Tracey have been received, protracted, and regularly transmitted to the department and registers, respectively.

The contracts of Sloan, Reid, Garrison, and Jones are still in progress, but greatly retarded by freshets and sickness of hands, and which still continue; and it is deemed useless, under the continuance of these causes, to send out other deputies for some weeks to come, if I had them here, prepared for the field.

The major part of the surveys near the mouth of the Suwannee river, as recommended for survey, in my last year's diagram, is believed to be impracticable until a dry season shall have intervened, permitting the waters to subside; other lands will be substituted for them when the contracts shall be entered into.

I have had prepared, with much labor to my draughtsman clerk, triplicate manuscript diagrams of the surveys executed in Florida, with the counties delineated as designated by law, accompanied with the necessary references, and which are believed to be more correct than any heretofore reported. Each triplicate is in three separate parts, and marked A. Documents B, C, and D, accompany, and explain themselves.

All of which is respectfully submitted by your most obedient servant,

ROBERT BUTLER,

Surveyor General.

JAMES H. PIPER, Esq.,

Acting Commissioner of the General Land Office.

I do not deem it necessary to detail the facts of the forcible prevention and subsequent suspension, by the department, of the surveys of the two Archaic grants, (one of 20,000, the other of 28,000 acres, located by the Supreme Court of the United States, and having their locations at and near Aligator pond, in Columbia county,) as the department is already in full possession of all the facts; and the further action of this office in relation to these surveys stands suspended, and subject to the instructions of the department. The examination (under agreement and contract for the survey if found necessary) of certain suspended work intrusted to deputy surveyor Watson has been greatly retarded, from causes beyond his control. (Vide copy of his letter transmitted you from this office by my direction on the 7th day of September last.) I am in daily expectation of receiving his final report thereon under his instructions, a copy of which you have been furnished with.

The contract of deputy surveyor George Mackay, entered into with my predecessor in July, 1845, has not yet been reported to this office. Those of deputies Randolph, Houston, and Tracey have been received, protected, and regularly transmitted to the department and registers, respectively. The contracts of Sloan, Reid, Garrison, and Jones are still in progress, but greatly retarded by freshers and sickness of hands, and which still continue; and it is deemed useless, under the continuance of these causes, to send out other deputies for some weeks to come, if I had them here, prepared for the field.

The major part of the surveys near the mouth of the Suwannee river, as recommended for survey, in my last year's diagram, is believed to be impracticable until a dry season shall have intervened, permitting the waters to subside; other lands will be substituted for them when the contracts shall be entered into.

I have had prepared, with much labor to my draughtsman clerk, triplicate manuscript diagrams of the surveys executed in Florida, with the

CONSULAR SYSTEM.

LETTER

THE SECRETARY OF STATE,

TRANSMITTING

A report upon the Consular System of the United States, in compliance with a resolution of the House of Representatives of the 10th August, 1846.

DECEMBER 15, 1846.

Read, and laid upon the table.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,

Washington, December 14, 1846.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit, herewith, a report made in compliance with the resolution of the House of Representatives of the 10th of August last, referring to the Secretary of State the bill "to revise the consular system of the United States."

I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JAMES BUCHANAN.

Hon. JOHN W. DAVIS,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE, in obedience to the resolution adopted by the House of Representatives on the 10th August last, referring to him the bill "to revise the consular system of the United States," "with instructions to make a report to the House, at the commencement of the next session, on our consular system generally, with such information as he may be able to collect and arrange upon the subject," has the honor to submit the following REPORT.

It is due both to the House and to himself to state, in the commencement, that it has been impossible for him, without neglecting the current and urgent business of the department, to devote the time necessary to comply with their resolution in a satisfactory manner. To collect the requisite information, and to prepare a well digested plan for the reconstruction of our very imperfect and inadequate consular system, would require the continued labor of a competent person, well versed in consular duties, during a period of several months.

A consular system, adequate to the protection of our extended foreign commerce, ought to be embraced in a single law, to which our consuls could upon all occasions refer.

These officers are spread over the whole foreign world. They are often citizens who, however respectable, are not, from their previous pursuits, well qualified to examine and investigate a great number of detached laws scattered over our statute book from the origin of the government. At a distance from their country, they do not possess the means of obtaining legal advice as to what provisions of previous acts, on account of their inconsistency with those of a subsequent date, have been thereby repealed. For this, and other obvious reasons, the Secretary would respectfully suggest that the whole consular system ought to be included in a single bill, and all former acts upon the subject repealed.

This bill should provide—

I. For the number, appointment, and compensation of all consuls general, consuls, and vice-consuls.

II. It should clearly define all the duties of these officers, and specify the fees to be received for their performance.

In regard to the number of consulates, these have increased beyond what is necessary. This has resulted from the mode of their appointment; and the number must still continue to increase until it shall be limited by law. Under the practice which has always prevailed of appointing new consuls, at the discretion of the President and Senate, to any place throughout the foreign world, it was almost impossible to confine these appointments within proper limits. When a respectable citizen went abroad to establish himself in mercantile business at any place where no consulate had previously existed, it immediately became a desirable object for him to obtain the appointment of consul at his new residence. This would give him rank, and increase his business. In such cases, it was difficult to resist his own solicitations and those of his friends; and thus appointments have been made in many instances without necessity. The policy of limiting the number of consulates adopted by the present bill is certainly entitled to approbation. Their number is now one hundred and sixty-eight, independently of ten commercial agencies. (Statement No 1, attached to this report.) This bill provides for the appointment of seventy-four consuls and fifty-five vice-consuls, making in the aggregate one hundred and twenty-nine; and even this number might perhaps be reduced with advantage. These officers, with the approbation of the Secretary of State, might be permitted to appoint consular agents, for whom they would be held responsible, at any place within the bounds of their consulates of sufficient importance to require the services of such agents.

CONSULS GENERAL.

No act of Congress authorizes the appointment of consuls general. It may be well worthy of consideration, however, whether it would not be proper to establish this grade at some of the more important ports in Europe ; whilst it is certain that this would be expedient with respect to the Barbary States, and some of the ports along the Levant. In the latter countries, rank is often of great importance ; and our simple consuls have not enjoyed the same privileges there, and for this reason have not had it in their power to serve their government and their countrymen to the same extent with the consuls general of other nations. To refer to a single instance : our consul at Alexandria is deprived of the advantage of holding personal intercourse with the viceroy of Egypt, simply because he does not bear the title of consul general. No objection can be perceived to conferring upon our consuls, in a few proper cases, especially in semi-barbarous countries, the title of consul general. It would be only to change the name, without increasing the expense to the government.

MODE OF COMPENSATING CONSULS.

So much has been written and said in favor of changing the mode of compensating our consuls, that it is unnecessary for the Secretary to enlarge upon the subject. He is very clearly of opinion that they ought to be compensated, as the present bill proposes, by salaries from the treasury—at least at the more important ports—and not by fees. He is fully convinced that until this change shall be effected, and until our consuls at those ports with which we conduct a large foreign trade shall be prohibited from engaging in mercantile pursuits, we can never have such a consular system as is due to the vast interests of our extended commerce.

Great Britain pays a fixed salary to all her consuls general, consuls, and vice-consuls ; and in addition, authorizes them to receive certain moderate fees for their services. The French system is understood to be the same, except that the fees received are not for the benefit of these officers themselves, but are appropriated to other purposes connected with their consulates.

At present our consulates are generally held by commission merchants, residents abroad. The fees attached to them, except in a few instances, yield an amount wholly insufficient for the support of the consul and his family. They are therefore sought after merely to give the consul rank, and as a means of increasing the consignments made to him as a commission merchant. The consulate is thus rendered subsidiary to his private business ; and the temptation is great to abuse his public trust, for the purpose of favoring his customers. If he should be proof against this temptation, which is believed to be generally the case, still he is suspected. Merchants who do not make consignments to him, and the masters of their vessels, will always be jealous of his conduct. A consul is under the strongest obligations, as an officer of the government, to extend equal protection to all Americans engaged in foreign commerce ; and he ought, therefore, to have no pecuniary inducement to swerve from this line of duty, in favor of any individual. He is intrusted with important public concerns, and his time ought to be exclusively devoted to them. This would give him a consideration and influence with the authorities at the place of his residence, for the benefit of his countrymen, which he can never enjoy so long as his office shall continue to be a mere incident to his mercantile business. Many evils, which need not be enumerated, have resulted from the present mode of compensating consuls.

CONSULAR FEES.

In the Secretary's opinion, our foreign commerce ought not to be taxed with any consular fees. It has to sustain a competition with the whole world, and through its agency we collect the greater part of the revenue for the support of the federal government. To relieve it from the payment of consular fees would therefore seem to be both politic and just. Still, the present may not be deemed a propitious moment to cast the whole system upon the public treasury. In accordance with this view, the bill provides that consular fees shall continue to be collected for the purpose of indemnifying the treasury in part for the payment of the salaries of consuls and vice-consuls. It also wisely proposes so to regulate these fees as to prevent all disputes concerning them between consuls and the persons requiring their services. These charges may probably be rendered still more specific and certain; but this could be better done in a personal conference with the chairman of the proper committee, than by entering upon such details in this report.

Under the present regulations, the subject is involved in such obscurity that different charges are levied at different consulates. This gives rise to frequent disputes, especially between shipmasters and consuls, in regard to the taxation of fees, greatly to the discredit of both, as well as to that of the government. This evil would, in a great degree, be remedied by that provision of the present bill which requires the payment to the consul of one cent per ton on the tonnage of each vessel as a compensation "for receiving and delivering the ship's papers." For the sake of greater precision, it might be expressed, "for receiving the deposit of a ship's papers, and granting a certificate thereof under seal, and for returning the same with a like certificate, and in full for all official services whatever respecting the entry and clearance of a vessel."

With such a provision, no dispute about fees for the entry and clearance of vessels could hereafter arise. Besides, this assessment on the tonnage of the vessel would be much fairer than the existing charge. At present, a vessel of a thousand pays no more fees than a vessel of a hundred tons burden. It ought to be observed, however, that one cent per ton would not, in the aggregate, be equal to the existing charges; though one cent and a half per ton would be sufficient to collect this amount. (Vide tables Nos. 2 and 3, attached to this report.)

A CONSULAR CODE.

But, after the number, appointment, and compensation of our consular agents shall have been determined, and the organization of the system, in these particulars, shall have been completed, the important task would still remain of defining, by law, the powers and duties of consuls. This will prove to be a task of great difficulty and delicacy; the performance of which, in a proper manner, will require much knowledge and patient investigation.

On this point the provisions of existing laws are exceedingly defective. "These provisions," in the language of Mr. Livingston, "extend only to the authority given to consuls to receive protests and declarations; to give copies under the consulate seal; to settle the affairs of American citizens who shall die within the limits of the consulate; to secure property saved from wrecks; to provide for the deposit of the ship's papers; and to afford relief to destitute American seamen." It is true that, since the date of Mr. Livingston's report, from which the above is an extract, Congress have passed the act of July 20, 1840, which contains some useful provisions, so far as they extend, relative to the duties of consuls; yet still Mr. Livingston's enumeration remains true to the letter.

In all the wide range of consular duties, with the exception of these few particulars, the consul is left to his own discretion, under the sweeping enactment of the 9th section of the act of the 28th February, 1803. This declares "that the specification of certain powers and duties in this act, to be exercised or performed by the consuls and vice consuls of the United States, shall not be construed to the exclusion of others, resulting from the nature of their appointments, or any treaty or convention under which they may act."

The Secretary would respectfully call the attention of the House to this important subject, and suggest that provision be made by law for defining, with as much accuracy as the nature of the case will permit, what are the powers and duties of the consular office. These should no longer be left to the discretion of the consuls themselves—regulated by no rule whatever, except what they may deem as "resulting from the nature of their appointments." Congress would not tolerate that any important officer within the United States—for example, a collector of the customs—should exercise such a discretion. How much more necessary, then, that a class of public agents whose field of duty lies beyond the limits of the United States, far from the means of information, and whose conduct must materially affect the interests of our foreign commerce, and may, under peculiar circumstances, even endanger the peace of the country, should have their powers and duties defined in a clear and explicit manner.

The powers and duties of consuls under treaties with foreign nations.

In the middle ages consuls exercised extensive civil and criminal jurisdiction, at the places where they resided, over the subjects and citizens of their respective countries. This practice has long since ceased, except in regard to Mahomedan and other nations occupying a similar position towards Christendom. Christian powers, with a due regard to the protection of their own citizens and subjects, could not suffer them to be tried and punished for crimes and offences in the summary manner practised among these nations, with all their prejudices against foreigners. By our treaties, therefore, with the Sublime Porte and the Emperor of China, these sovereigns are deprived of all criminal jurisdiction over our citizens. As a substitute for this jurisdiction, it is provided, in the 4th article of our treaty with the Sultan, that offences committed by American citizens in Turkey "shall be tried by their minister or consul, and punished according to their offence—following, in this respect, the usage observed towards the other Franks." And under the 21st article of our recent treaty with China, "citizens of the United States who may commit any crime in China shall be subject to be tried and punished only by the consul, or other public functionary of the United States, according to the laws of the United States. And in order to the prevention of all controversy and disaffection, justice shall be equally and impartially administered on both sides."

Good faith thus requires that Congress should provide for the trial and punishment of crimes and offences when committed by American citizens in the dominions of the Sultan and the Emperor of China. Having surrendered this sovereign power to the United States, under a solemn engagement on our part that it shall be faithfully executed, the Turkish and Chinese governments have a right to expect that Congress shall provide for the performance of this obligation. There is an urgent necessity that this should be done immediately. At present, these stipulations are a dead letter; because it is not presumed that any consul of the United States, resident in those countries, would undertake to try, convict, and punish our citizens for offences committed there. Should a flagrant crime be perpetrated upon a Turk or Chinese by any of our citizens, and should punishment not follow, according to the requisitions of the treaty, this might disturb if not destroy our friendly relations, and do great injury to our commerce. Accustomed as they are to summary justice, they could not be made to understand why criminals, who are citizens of the United States, should escape with impunity, in violation of treaty obligations, whilst the punishment of a Turk or a Chinese, who had committed any crime against an American citizen, would be rigorously exacted.

Under existing treaties with Tripoli, Tunis, Morocco, and Muscat, all disputes between citizens of the United States, in these countries, are to be decided by the proper consul; and in the three former, whenever he shall require any aid to enforce his decisions, it is to be immediately granted by the government of the country.

Under our treaties with Sweden, Prussia, Russia, Hanover, and Portugal, our consuls "have the right to sit as judges and arbitrators in such differences as may arise between the captains and crews" of American vessels in these countries.

The mode in which these judicial powers shall be executed by consuls has never yet, in a single instance, been prescribed by Congress.

EXPENDITURE BY CONSULS FOR THE RELIEF OF DESTITUTE AMERICAN SEAMEN IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

Among the few duties prescribed to consuls by law, there is one worthy of immediate consideration. These officers are the agents of the government to afford relief to destitute American seamen in foreign countries, and to disburse the money for this purpose. As a compensation for this trouble, they are allowed five per cent. on the amount of their expenditure.

The amount appropriated for this purpose has, of late years, rapidly increased, being now $75,000 per annum, nearly double what it was in 1840, and for several years preceding, when $40,000 per annum was the sum appropriated.—(Vide table No. 4, attached to this report.) This increase has been much greater than can be accounted for by the extension, rapid as this has been, of the foreign commerce of our country. One great cause of it may undoubtedly be found in that provision of the act approved July 20th, 1840, which authorizes consuls, when they deem it expedient, to discharge seamen in foreign ports, upon the joint application of the master of the vessel and the seaman, "without requiring the payment of the three months' wages, under the provisions of the act of the 28th February, 1803, or any other sum of money."

Although the bill under consideration contains several salutary enactments to prevent the abuse of this power by consuls, yet it is respectfully submitted that in this particular the act of July 20th, 1840, should be altogether repealed.

Seamen, as a class, are thoughtless and improvident, whilst their services are essential both to our commercial marine and to our navy. When the master of a vessel employs them on a foreign voyage, it is but fair that he should stipulate for their safe return. On him, and not upon the government, ought to devolve the charge of bringing them back to their country. The act of the 28th February, 1803, "supplementary to the act concerning consuls and vice-consuls, and for the further protection of American seamen," enforced the performance of this duty. Under its provisions, every master of a vessel bound to a foreign country, before he can obtain his clearance, must exhibit to the collector of the port from which he is about to sail, a list of the crew verified under oath. This original list is to remain with the collector, but a certified copy thereof is to be delivered to the master of the vessel, who is obliged to "enter into bond, with sufficient security, in the sum of four hundred dollars, under the condition that he shall exhibit this copy of the list of his crew to the first boarding officer at the first port in the United States at which he shall arrive on his return thereto, and then and there also produce the persons named therein to the said boarding officer, whose duty it shall be to examine the men with such list, and to report the same to the collector."

In order to relieve himself from his bond, the master must, on his return to the United States, "produce the persons named in the list" to the boarding officer, unless in four excepted cases. These are—

1st. When a seaman has been "discharged in a foreign country, with the consent of the consul, vice-consul, commercial agent, or vice-commercial agent, there residing, signified in writing, under his hand and official seal, to be produced to the collector ;"

2d. The death of the seaman ;

3d. His absconding or desertion ; and,

4th. His impressment into other service.

In the three latter cases, he is bound to exhibit to the collector satisfactory proof of the alleged facts.

THE CONSENT OF THE CONSUL TO THE SEAMAN'S DISCHARGE.

Whilst it is the duty of the United States, in any event, to provide for the relief of their distressed seamen in foreign countries and for their return home, it is not just that the government should bear the expense of performing this duty when it is imposed for the accommodation or advantage of the masters of vessels. He who receives the benefit ought to bear the charge. It was, therefore, provided by the act of February, 1803, that no consul should consent to the discharge of a seaman in a foreign country, and thereby relieve the master of a vessel from his bond, until such master should first pay to the consul, &c., "for every seaman or mariner so discharged, being designated on such list as a citizen of the United States, three months' pay over and above the wages which may then be due to such mariner or seaman ; two-thirds thereof to be paid by such consul or commercial agent to each seaman or mariner so discharged, upon his engagement on board of any vessel to return to the United States, and the other remaining third to be retained for the purpose of creating a fund for the payment of the passages of seamen or mariners, citizens of the United States, who may be desirous of returning to the United States, and for the maintenance of American seamen who may be destitute, and may be in such foreign port."

By the provisions of this act, no seaman could be lawfully discharged abroad, under any circumstances, without this payment of the three months' wages. The consul could not consent to his discharge on any other condition. And this was no hardship on the master of the vessel. He was bound by his bond to return his seamen to the United States; and the payment of these three months' wages relieved him from this obligation.

Thus the law remained until after the passage of the "Act in addition to the several acts regulating the shipment and discharge of seamen and the duties of consuls," approved July 20th, 1840. Under this act our consuls are authorized, if they deem it expedient, to discharge seamen in any foreign port, upon the joint application of the master and seaman, without requiring this payment.

This provision has proved alike injurious to the seaman and unjustly expensive to the United States. It has diminished the fund provided by law for the support of destitute seamen in foreign countries, and for their return to the United States, and has cast the burden upon the public treasury. It has benefited no person but the ship owner, in relieving him from the obligation, justly imposed upon him, of restoring the crew which navigated his vessel, to their country and their home.

Should Congress deem it expedient to repeal this provision of the act of 1840, and indeed in any event, it may be proper to place whalers, by positive enactment, upon the same footing with other vessels in regard to the payment of the three months' wages. Whaling voyages are often undertaken upon an agreement between all persons on board to share the profits of the adventure; and hence it has been contended that, as no specific wages are in such cases stipulated, the master is not bound to pay an equivalent for the three months' wages upon the discharge of a seaman. Although the decision at the treasury has been against such exemption, it is submitted whether the point should not be placed beyond doubt or dispute. Equal justice requires that the masters of such whalers should be placed on the same footing in this respect with the masters of other vessels.

It may be stated that under the act of July, 1840, it has been left to the discretion of the consul whether he will allow the discharge of a seaman without the payment of the three months' wages; but yet it is difficult for him, when both the master and the mariner insist upon it, to resist their joint application. The consequence has been, that great numbers of our seamen, discharged chiefly from whaling vessels, are left destitute on the distant islands and shores of the Pacific, a charge to the government. Whilst this law has thus aggravated the sufferings of seamen, and delayed their return to their country, it has entailed on the treasury a heavy additional expense for their relief and their passage to the United States. Opportunities offer but seldom in those remote regions for sending them home, and they often remain there a long time in charge of our consuls. The money expended for the relief of American seamen at the Sandwich Islands, the Society Islands, Valparaiso, Cape of Good Hope, Lima, Païta, and Talcahuano, has increased more than threefold since the passage of the act of 1840. The amount disbursed for that year was $14,589 02, whilst for the year 1845, the last for which full returns have been received, it amounted to $44,485 97.—(Vide statement No. 5, attached to this report.)

As observed before, it is not intended to convey the idea that the whole of this increase of expenditure is attributable to that act. The extension of our whale fisheries, with which all must be gratified, is one of its legitimate causes. Moreover, the hospital and medical expenses, and the charge for boarding at these ports, appear to be extravagant, though possibly they may be necessary.—(Vide statement No. 6, attached to this report.) Our consuls receive five per cent. as a compensation for their trouble upon all these disbursements. They thus have a direct interest in increasing the amount. Whilst it might be unjust even to insinuate that this interest has interfered with the discharge of their duty, yet it is submitted that they ought to be compensated by a fixed salary, instead of commissions, for the performance of this service.

Some legislation is necessary to enforce a compliance with the conditions of the bond required to be executed by masters of vessels under the first section of the act of 1803. From all that can be learned, this bond has in practice become nearly a dead letter. Although seamen are often discharged in foreign ports without a compliance with any of the provisions of the law, yet suits have rarely been brought upon these bonds.

It is respectfully suggested that it be made by law the duty of the collector to cause suit to be instituted on every such bond after a limited period, unless in the mean time the evidence required by the act to prove a compliance with its condition shall be exhibited by the master of the vessel. Some such provision is necessary, both for the protection of seamen from injustice and ill treatment, and the United States from imposition.

CONSULAR CORRESPONDENCE.

The bill properly requires consuls and vice-consuls to furnish to the department, at stated periods, such information as may be rendered useful to the country, and imposes upon it the corresponding duty of communicating this information annually to Congress in a digested form. The Secretary has already had occasion to state his opinion on this subject, on the 16th March last, in his answer to the inquiries of the Committee on the Judiciary of the House, in reference to the reorganization of the State Department, to which he now respectfully refers.—(Report No. 552, of the last session of Congress.) He entertains not a doubt that a mass of information might be procured through the agency of a properly constituted consular system, which would be of great advantage to the navigating, commercial, agricultural, and manufacturing interests of the country. But in order to render this available, it is indispensable that a competent person should be employed, as the bill proposes, to digest, arrange, and publish the information thus obtained, for the use of Congress and the people. It is impossible that the two consular clerks now in the department should, besides their present duty of corresponding with one hundred and sixty-eight consuls on the current business of their consulates, perform this additional service. Indeed, these clerks are not sufficient for the proper discharge of the present business of the branch on which they are employed.

CONSULAR CERTIFICATES TO INVOICES OF FOREIGN GOODS.

The Secretary would merely glance at this subject as one more properly belonging to the Treasury Department. He is convinced, however, that under proper regulations consular certificates, at the places of exportation, to all invoices of foreign goods, might be rendered an efficient means of ascertaining their true value, and thereby preventing frauds upon the revenue, whilst these certificates would, at the same time, secure the honest merchant against fraudulent competition. Further legislation on this subject has become the more necessary since the abolition of all specific duties under the present tariff.

All which is respectfully submitted by

JAMES BUCHANAN,
Secretary of State.
